

INTRODUCTION

Order of Study: Introduction, Genesis, Exodus, Leviticus, Numbers and Deuteronomy.

I. This is the Old Testament Bookshelf.

The word "testament" means "will" or "covenant." The term "Old Testament", therefore, refers to God's covenant or promise-law to bless mankind through the Jewish nation. It has also come to refer to the writings about the Old Covenant, although, strictly speaking, these ancient books are the Old Covenant Scriptures.

The Scriptures of the Old Testament record the story of God's chosen people, Israel, and their relationship to His covenant to bless all nations through them.

II. The Books of Law

A. There are Two Titles of the Books of the Law

The five books of the Law (Jewish name: Torah) are also called "the Pentateuch" (a Greek name) which means "five scrolls." At least some of this literature if not all was written by Moses (Luke 24:27; John 5:46). These books describe the creation of the world, God's call to the Hebrews to be His special people, their captivity and release from Egypt, the laws which guided them on their way to the Promised Land and how God blessed the people when they obeyed and disciplined them when they disobeyed.

B. This is the Order of Events and People in the Pentateuch

- 1. Creation of All Things
- 2. The Book of Genesis: 4004 B.C. to 1800 B.C.
- 3. The Fall of Man in the Garden of Eden
- 4. Noah's Flood
- 5. The Tower of Babel
- 6. Birth of Abraham
- 7. Birth of Isaac
- 8. Birth of Jacob
- 9. Birth of Joseph
- 10. The Book of Exodus: 1800 B.C. to 1491 B.C.
- 11. The Hebrew people were enslaved in Egypt.
- 12. Birth of Moses
- 13. Moses Sees the Burning Bush
- 14. The Ten Plagues of Egypt
- 15. Crossing the Red Sea
- 16. The Giving of the Ten Commandments
- 17. The Books of Leviticus, Numbers, and Deuteronomy: 1491 B.C. to 1451 B.C.
- 18. Forty Years Wandering in the Wilderness
- 19. Joshua Replaces Moses

NOTE: All dates are approximate.

III. The Dramatic Story of Redemption Begins in the Pentateuch

A superficial reading of the Bible shows it to be a collection of sixty-six books written during a period of about 1600 years by about forty different men, among who were kings, prophets, priests, a scribe, a shepherd, and fishermen. It may appears to be a library rather than one book, but a closer look at the Bible reveals it to be a unified work.

Through the many stories and varied subject matter of the Scriptures runs one outstanding and predominant theme—the Redemption of mankind through a Divinely appointed Savior (and this is evidence to the fact that all the authors were under the direction of one Author—the Holy Ghost.) This unity of the Scriptures is a stark contrast to the Islamic Koran, which consists of a collection of 114 unrelated chapters organized according to their length (with the exception of Sura 1).

The story of Redemption is a dramatic story, and not dead, boring, hastily combined pieces of literature. The Pentateuch sets the scene and palette for the entire picture of Biblical revelation.

(Gen. 3:15; 6:18; Ex.12:13; Lev. 1:5; Num. 19:1-10; Deut. 1:8; Luke 24:27)

IV. General Details of the Pentateuch

Pentateuch means "5 Scrolls" and is the Greek name given to the first five books of the Bible by the translators. These 5 books are known by the Jews as "The Torah" which means The Law. The Pentateuch is part of the Old Testament. "Testament" means will or covenant. This covenant was one of shadows and promises of better things to come. (Hebrews 8:6-13)

Hebrews 12:24—And to Jesus the mediator of the new covenant, and to the blood of sprinkling, that speaketh better things than that of Abel.

V. A Description of each book of the Pentateuch

GENESIS is the book of origins—of the beginning of life, and of ruin through sin. Its first phrase "in the beginning God created" is in striking contrast to its last phrase "in a coffin in Egypt."

EXODUS is the book of Redemption—the first need of a ruined race.

LEVITICUS is the book of worship and communion, which is the proper exercise of the redeemed.

NUMBERS speaks of the experiences of a pilgrim people passing through a hostile scene to a promised inheritance.

DEUTERONOMY is retrospective and prospective. It is a book of instruction for the redeemed about to enter into their inheritance. (Retrospective — relating to things of the past. Prospective — relating to things of the future.) "Remember"is the key word.

VI. Authorship of the Pentateuch

At least some of the Pentateuch if not all was written by Moses and the Pentateuch is without question Divinely inspired Scripture. The Pentateuch's authenticity[1] is attested by the most indisputable evidence, and it is cited as an inspired record thirty-three times in the course of the Scriptures. [2]

The author of the Pentateuch is nowhere designated in the collection itself. The testimony of the Bible, however, is that Moses was the writer of the majority of the Pentateuch.

A. Passages Confirming this Conclusion

- 1. Exodus 17:14 Moses, Write this...in a book
- 2. John 1:45 Moses...did write
- 3. John 5:46 Moses...he wrote of Me
- 4. Mark 12:26; 2 Chr. 25:4; Neh.13:1 book of Moses

B. EXCEPTION: Deuteronomy 34 almost definitely was not written by Moses.

(REASONING: Concerns his death and what took place following his death.) [3]

VII. Depth of the Pentateuch

The Pentateuch is not merely a record of happenings, but in the Pentateuch we have a true and logical introduction to the entire Bible, and an epitome[4] (endNotes) of the Divine revelation. The Pentateuch introduces in their embryonic stage such doctrines as:

- The Nature of God. God is the Source of all Things (Gen. 1:1)
- The Nature of Man. Man is Sinful (Gen.3:6; 4:8)
- The Nature of Satan. Satan is a Liar (Gen.3:4)
- The Nature of Sin. Sin brings Death (Gen.2:17)
- The Nature of Salvation. Salvation through the Cross. (Numbers 21:4-9)

VIII. Historical Precedence

Babylonian and Assyrian monuments contain records bearing a grotesque resemblance to the majestic account of Creation and of The Flood. Dennis Bratcher of CRI has observed, "...there are simply too many similarities between the accounts to deny any relationship between the accounts." This fact confirms rather than invalidates Divine inspiration of the Mosaic account. Some tradition of creation and the Flood would inevitably be handed down in the ancient cradle of the human race. Such tradition, following the order of all tradition, would take on grotesque and mythological features over time, and these abound in the Babylonian records.

An example of such a tradition that has survived the ages is the uEnuma Elish ("When on High"). The uEnumaElish is seven Babylonian clay tablets uncovered in Nineveh (Mosul, Iraq)by Henry Layard in 1849. The uEnuma Elish has about a thousand lines and is recorded in Old Babylonian on seven clay tablets, each holding between 115and 170 lines of text. The tablets give us a good look at the Babylonian world view centered on their patron false god, Marduk. These tablets date back to 7th or 8th century BC but the story contained in it may date as far back as the 12th or even the 14th century BC.

It is possible these tablets are older than any copies of Scripture that we have, but this does not mean they are a more reliable record just because they are older. Of necessity, the first task of inspiration would be to supplant the often absurd and childish traditions of men with a revelation of the true history (thePentateuch), and such history we find in words of matchless grandeur, and in an order which, rightly understood, is absolutely scientific.

[5]The Enuma Elish is a Babylonian creation epic. Although it exists only in later copies, it was probably composed at Babylon in the Kassite period to celebrate Babylon's victory (c.1450 BC) over the Sea land. Many of the mythological motifs in the story were borrowed from earlier Canaanite myths about Baal. The text consists of seven tablets. It tells how Marduk, the god of Babylon, was chosen king of the gods to defeat Tiamat, the personified sea representing chaotic evil.sup[5] Copyright (c) 1997 GrolierInteractive Inc

Introduction to Genesis

I. Purpose Theme:

Genesis records the creation of the world and of the Jewish nation.

II. Key Verses:

Genesis 12:1-3--1 Now the LORD had said unto Abram, Get thee out of thy country, and from thy kindred, and from thy father's house, unto a land that I will shew thee: 2 And I will make of thee a great nation, and I will bless thee, and make thy name great; and thou shalt be a blessing:3 And I will bless them that bless thee, and curse him that curseth thee: and in thee shall all families of the earth be blessed.

III. Main People:

Adam & Eve, Noah, Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, Joseph

IV. Brief Outline:

- I. The creation of the world (Chapters 1,2)
- II. Sin in the world (Chapters 3,4)
- III. Noah and the Flood (Chapters 5-9)
- IV. The beginning of the nations and languages (Chapters 10,11)
- V. Abraham's family: God's people in the land God gave them (Chapters 12-38)
- VI. Joseph: God's people going to Egypt (Chapters 39-50)

V. This is the Order of Events in Genesis:

- Genesis: 4004 B.C. to 1800 B.C.
- Creation
- Fall of Man
- The Flood
- Tower of Babel
- Abraham
- Isaac
- Jacob

VI. Special Features:

A. Genesis is the foundation for all following Scriptures.

The book of Genesis provides an essential foundation for the remainder of the Pentateuch and all subsequent Biblical revelation. Although accounts of "Creation", "The Flood", and the "Tower of Babel" can be found throughout the ancient civilizations, itis the only trustworthy and mature record concerning the beginnings of theuniverse, humankind, marriage, sin, cities, languages, nations, Israel, and thepurpose of God in all of these things.

B. The Title of This Book

The title of this book given to it in the Greek Septuagint means "creation" or "generation" and the Jews refer to Genesis as "Bereshith" meaning "in the beginning."

C. Genesis is a Book Origins

It was the first book of the Bible written (with the possible exception of Job).

The history of Genesis reveals that the material universe is distinctly God's work and not some independent process. (Fifty times in chapters one and two are found verbsexpressing what God did-God made, saw, said, formed)

Genesis is the book of firsts: recording the first marriage, first family, first birth, first sin, first murder, first polygamist, first musical instruments, and the first promise of redemption. The covenant made to Abraham in 12:1-3 is central to all Scripture.

Genesis alone explains the origin of the twelve tribes of Israel. Genesis reveals how the descendants of Abraham ended up in Egypt for 430 years and thus sets the stagefor the Exodus, the central redemption event of the Old Testament.

VII. New Testament Fulfilment:

Genesis reveals the prophetic history of redemption and a Redeemer as coming through the seed of the woman (3:15), the line of Seth (4:25,26), the line of Shem(9:26,27), and through the seed of Abraham (12:3.) The New Testament applies Genesis12:3 directly to God's provision of redemption in Jesus Christ (Galatians 3:16,29.)

Numerous persons and events from Genesis are mentioned in the New Testament in relation to:

- Faith and Righteousness (Romans4; Hebrews 11:1-22)
- God's Judgment (Luke16:26-29,32; Il Peter 3:5; Jude 7, 11a)
- The Person of Jesus Christ (Matthew1:1; John 8:58; Hebrews 7)

Terah	11:24	to breathe; scent;blow; turning; duration; station; wanderer

In the Beginning God (Before Man) 1:1-25

I. God is eternally existent. In the beginning God...

The Bible never attempts to prove the existence of God, but merely acceptsHis eternal existence as a foregone conclusion. God is eternally existent and preceded all matter and persons. (Deut. 32:40; 33:27; Job 36:26; Psalm 9:7;lsa. 57:15; Rev. 1:8)

Hebrews 11:6--...he that cometh to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him.

The foundation of Christianity is faith. In the fullness of time, this faith can be confirmed by observable facts. Although filled with scientifically accurate material, the intent of Scripture is not to give a world history or ascientific exegesis of all things natural. Only the first two chapters are devoted to a synopsis of creation and it promptly proceeds to the maincourse--God's dealings with man and specifically, the Hebrew people. All thebooks of the Old Testament concern themselves with this thought.

As both Creationism and Evolution require faith, It would seem the only necessity for the idea of evolution is to create a situation where man can be independent of God and free to establish his own rules of life. Evolution is the religion of the atheist. To believe in the religion of evolution is to beanti-God in that it is in stark contrast to the record of Scripture, God's HolyWord.

II. God is the Creator of all things

God--"Elohim" supreme God; superlative; creative glory (found in 180 verses in Genesis; 2,249 verses in the O.T.) Gen. 6:7;lsa. 43:15; John 1:3; Heb. 1:10; I Peter 4:19

A. All things have their beginning and source in God.

Even Lucifer was created by God and had his beginning in God. As a beautiful angelic being on whom God bestowed great privilege, Lucifer rebelled against the order of Godand fell into the condemnation of the devil. (Isaiah 14:12; I Timothy 3:6; Gen.3:1)

B. In any sense, God did not author evil, but in His desire to have a creation that out of its own free-will chose to serve Him, He provided the freedom of choice.

Good &evil are not created items, but descriptions of the choices of the will. In absolutely no way can we attribute evil to God.

C. Before God there was nothing and without God there is nothing. (Gen. 1:1; John 1:1-3)

Only God can create something out of nothing.

	The 7 Days of Creation
Day 1	1:3-5	Created the light and divided the light from the darkness.
Day 2	1:6-8	Created the firmament and called it heaven.
Day 3	1:9-13	Caused dry land to appear with grass and trees, & named waters seas.
Day 4	1:14-19	Created the Sun, moon & stars.
Day 5	1:20-23	Created the creatures of the water and birds.
Day 6	1:24-31	Created beasts, creeping things and man.
Day 7	2:1-3	God Rested.

D. Genesis' Record of Creation is God's Record

1. Do Chapter's 1 & 2 contradict each Other?

The sequential differences of the creative events recorded in chapters one and two have been the topic of much criticism. In chapter one, the purpose of the writer is to give a brief summary of the highlights of creation. In chapter two, the writer is establishing theplace of man in this creation while reiterating material already covered in chapter one. There is no contradiction found here. It is because the author's purpose changes when chapter two begins, that we see any differences. Again, these differences are still never contradictory, but only the details that achieve the specific goal of the Author are reiterated while unnecessary details are left out.

Always keep in mind the ultimate intent of the Old Testament Scriptures. Their intent is not to investigate every scientific detail of the natural world or even to give a complete history of humanity, but is to follow God's dealings with the nation of Israel.

Not every conversation that ever took place is recorded, not every event is remembered, and not even every singular thought of God could possibly have been preserved in the 66 books of the Bible. Details are intentionally left out when they are diversions from the Author's motive and purpose. Only the details that God has determined in His infinite wisdom necessary to the revelation of God's will for man are recorded.uWhen seeking to understand difficult passages, subject Scripture to the light of its intentions.

2. Authenticity of Scripture

Scripture bases its authenticity and authority on the fact of Divine inspiration. The Divine inspiration of Scripture is evidenced by the combination of these proofs:

a. The Preservation of Scripture

No book has been as fervently fought through the ages and yet it has triumphantly endured.

b. The Accuracy of Scripture

The claims it makes for itself, God and the function of the natural world and humanity can be tested and observed as true.

c. The Prophecy of Scripture

The accuracy of its prophetic statements has been found far superior to any other work of prophecy. The Bible is more up to date than this morning's newspaper.

d. The Relevance of Scripture

Simply put, it works! Its principles can be practically applied and found true.

3. Authenticity of Evolution

Evolution claims to base its authenticity on the advancements of scientific thought--that is, the laws of observable facts. This scientific thought is constantly changing as understanding of our world changes.

Evolution is not a science, however, but is more of a religion that requires faith. As a theory, it postulates for millions of transitional species that have never been seen. It does not even attempt to answer the question of origin, but makesastronomically sized assumptions and moves from there. The only variations of species to be scientifically observed have been a)harmful and detrimental b)only differences within the species and not the development of new species altogether.

NOTE: Vast amounts of information on this debate can be found all over the internet and in multitudes of published works.[2]

III. The Nature of God

Although God's existence is a foregone conclusion, the nature of God is extensively detailed in Scripture. All that Christians know and doctrinally claim concerning God is revealed in the pages of the Bible. In the Hebrew Old Testament, there are manynames[3]or titles referring to God, and each is uniquely descriptive. Much of the nature of God can be understood by a look at these names.

Jehovah (YVWH) -- the Covenant Name of God--is the most popular and widely used. It is used in conjunction with different words establishing the correlation of God's promises and God's name. (Heb. 6:13; 15:3; Ps 83:18; Mark 13:31; Ps. 138:2)The use of Jehovah is signaled in the KJV by the use of all capital letters: LORD.

Elohim is perhaps the most comprehensive name of God. It expresses the Trinity and the fullness of the Godhead. It also expresses the creative power and glory of God.

Adam 1:26-5:28

I. The name Adam means earthy; red

Earthy-- The Lord formed man out of the dust of the earth. (Gen. 2:7; 3:9; 18:27) Without God man is just dirt. It was not until God breathed into man the breath of His life that man became aliving soul. We are formed from the ground, but God is the sourceof all ulife. In this lesson we see clearly the futility of humanity without God.

Red is possibly a reference to red clay and earth, but also brings our thoughts to blood. The life of the flesh is in the blood...(Lev. 17:11). More important than theblood that pumped through Adam's veins which was affected by sin is theinnocent blood of the Second Adam who would come and destroy the power of the serpent. (Gen. 3:15)

II. Placed in the Garden of Eden and commanded to dress and keep it. 2:5,15

Eden-- The beautiful paradise that God created was possibly situated somewhere between the Euphrates and Tigris rivers. A river went out of Eden to water the garden; and from thence it was parted, and became into four heads--Pison, Gihon, Hiddekel,& Euphrates. (Gen.2:10-14). It is important to note that the Flood may have dramatically rerouted the Euphrates River and the geographic picture we seetoday may be tremendously different from what was before the torrents of thegreat deluge.

Dress and Keep-- In the garden utopia Adam was not free to lounge 247, but was given great responsibility that accompanied his authority (Gen. 1:26). From this passage we may safelyconclude that labor and work was not the curse following sin, but merely thesweat, difficulty and futility of it. (Gen. 3:17-19) Also, part of Adam's responsibility was to keep the garden, that is, to protect; guard; preserve and also includes the idea of performing the part of a watchman. There was a serpent operating right under Adam's nose and he didn"t even notice until it was too late. We have a great responsibility to take care of and guardthe gifts that God gives us. Let us not be slack in our duty, but watchful. (I Peter 5:8)

III. Adam and Eve were driven from garden. Gen. 3:22-24

The commandment was given to Adam. He was not deceived as Eve, but made a wilful choice against God's command. (Gen. 2:16,17; I Tim. 2:14)

It was because of his sin that they were driven from the garden and more importantly the close communion Adam enjoyed with God in the garden was lost. Sin separates man from God and bringsspiritual and physical death. Adam lived 930 years. He lived to be acontemporary of Lamech, Noah's father. Although that is a long life by today's standard, death was not in God's will. Death is a result of sin

Noah 5:29-10:7

I. The name Noah means rest.

Following Adam and Eve's expulsion from Eden, sin spread like an epidemic. In his jealousy, Cain murdered his own brother. God judges Cain making him a fugitive, but would not hold others guiltless in taking Cain's life (God set a mark upon Cain). The influence of sin was everywhere and growing every day. We see the degeneration of man (...every imagination of the thoughts of his [humanity] heart was only evil continually. 6:5) epitomized in "Lamech I" (4:18-24), a sixth generation descendant of Cain. He not only had two wives, but he murdered two men. It was upon this scene of sin's broad influence in the earth into which Noah was born to "Lamech II" (an eighth generation descendent of Seth).

Genesis 5:29--And he called his name Noah, saying, uThis same shall comfort us concerning our work and toil of our hands, because of the ground which the LORD hath cursed.

Noah was a sign to his generation of a 'rest' from the futile toil of sin and of the salvation of God. (Ps. 37:7; Jer. 6:16; Heb. 4:9;)

II. Noah's Family

He was the tenth in descent fromAdam, in the line of Seth, the son of Lamech and grandson of Methuselah. We hear nothing of Noah until he is 500 years old when he begat three sons, Shem,Ham and Japheth.

III. Noah's Life

A. Who Was Noah?

Through faith he built an ark to the saving of his household. (I Pt. 3:20; Heb.11:7) During the period of building the ark it is said that he was a righteous man and perfect in his generations (i.e. among his contemporaries), and that he, like Enoch, walked with God. (Gen. 6:9; 2 Peter 2:5) He was 600 years old at the Flood and lived 950 years. He lived approximately 2948 BC to 1998 BC.

Il Peter 2:5And spared not the old world, but saved Noah the eighth person, a preacher of righteousness, bringing in the flood upon the world of the ungodly;
I Peter 3:20 few, that is, eight souls were saved by water. (Genesis7:1-24)
Adam Clarke's Commentary:	[Saved Noah the eighth] Some think that the words should be translated, Noah the eighth preacher of righteousness; but it seems most evident, from 1Pe 3:20, that eight persons are here meant, which were the whole that were saved in the ark, viz. Shem, Ham, Japheth, and their three wives,six; Noah's wife seven; and Noah himself the eighth. The form of expression, ogdoonmwe, "Noah the eighth", that is, "Noah and seven more", is most common in the Greek language.[1]

B. Chronology of the Flood

Earth dried; Noah left ark (8:14)	second month, 27th

C. Differences Before and After the Flood

Was the world different after the flood from how it was before the flood?

1. CANOPY

One possible difference in the world before the flood was water above the earth. During the second creative day the Bible says God separated the waters above the earth from the waters below the earth. Then God said to let there be an expanse in the midst of the waters and let it divide the waters from the waters, and God called the expanse Heaven.

This has been interpreted various ways. Some have seen this as referring to a water vapor canopy that enveloped the earth. Such a canopy would have produced a greenhouse effect keeping the climate at a moderate temperature worldwide. This would allow for rich vegetation as well as long life for the inhabitants of the earth.

2. RAIN CLOUDS

A second school of thought concerning the firmament is that it may have consisted of ordinary rain clouds. This line of thought argues against the idea of a canopy, by quoting Psalm148:4-6. According to this passage, the waters above were still in existence when the Psalmist wrote. Furthermore, the psalm states that they would remain forever by the unalterable decree of God.

3. NO RAIN

The Bible possibly teaches that there was no rain before the Flood (Gen. 2:5). But there went up a mist from the earth, and watered the whole face of the ground.--2:6. There is no reference of rain having fallen until the time of the deluge. The argument is essentially from the silence of the Bible, for there is no definitive statement in eithercase, for we merely assume that from the time of the creation no changetakes place until the Flood.

4. UNIFORM CLIMATE

The climate before the Flood may have been more uniform than today, that is, not having the same extremes intemperature. The Bible seems to indicate that the seasons were established after the flood.-Gen. 8:22.

5. VEGETARIANS

Scripture possibly teaches that humankind and the animals were not meat eaters until after the Flood. This conclusion may be drawn from Genesis 1:29.

6. LONGEVITY

Before the Flood, the people lived much longer. This longevity created a scenario where Adam could have rehearsed thestory of the "beginning" directly to the ears of hisgreat-great-great-great-great-great grandson, Lamech (Noah's father). The longlives of these Patriarchs definitely increase the probability of an accuraterecord of the beginning being preserved through the ages. Observation two: Adamlived long enough to witness the results of his fall in the Garden unto eightgenerations. Observation three: The longevity of life before the flood may be attributed to possible factors: 1)The degeneration of all things that was the result of sin was not as developed until after the Flood and 2)the world beforethe flood was a much healthier environment and with a more uniform climatepossibly enhanced by the greenhouse effect of a protective canopy.

360 Natural Days to one prophetic year. Dan. 7:25; 12:7 3.5Prophetic Years=1,260 natural days; Rev. 12:14

In the history of the Jews, the year was wholly lunar, having alternately a full month of thirty days, and a defective month of twenty-nine days, thus completing their year in three hundred and fifty-four days. As the lunar year, which the Jews followed, is shorter than the solar year by eleven days, the Jewish calendar contains a 13th month.

Nimrod 10:8-11:9

I. The name Nimrod means firm

Stubborn and rebellious against divine authority, Nimrod was a common specimen of his generation. The rebellionof this age culminated with the Tower of Babel.

II. He claimed to be a "mighty one in the earth." I Chr. 1:10

Babel was the beginning of his kingdom, which he gradually enlarged (10:8-10). The "land of Nimrod" (Micah 5:6) is a designation of Assyria or of Shinar.

III. The Cult that Formed around the legendary Nimrod. [1]

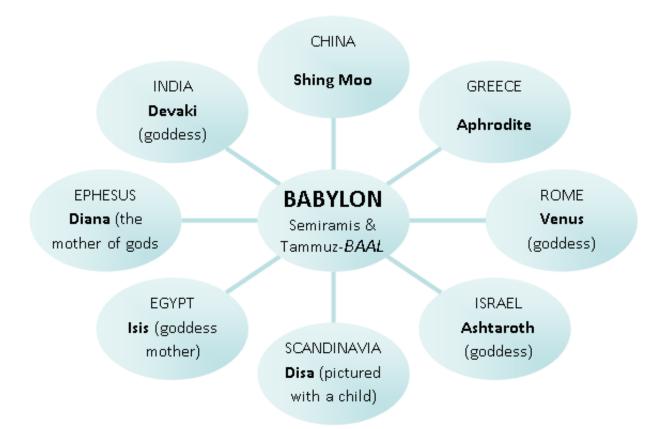

Nimrod was married to his own mother, Semiramis, the Queen of Babylon. Satan used them to create a cultso powerful that it spread around the world and multitudes look to Semiramis astheir goddess mother. Nimrod was known by many names including "Moloch." Babies were sacrificed in his honor. (Lev. 18:21; Acts 7:43) At this time, we find thebeginning of confessions, celibacy for priests, & motherinfantworship as we see in Roman Catholicism.

When Nimrod was put to death, the people wept. Semiramis moved quickly and took advantage of the situation. Supposedly a virgin, Semiramis gave birth to another child and claimed that Nimrod had been reincarnated. The child was called Tammuz. He became the sun god, Baal.(Halos)

Semiramis became a goddess with many names. Her names include:Baalti (the Madonna), the GreatGoddess Mother, Queen of Heaven, The Mediatrix, The Mother of Mankind, Astarte, etc. As time went on, monuments of the goddess mother and her child appeared inmany nations. When the people of Babylon were scattered to various parts of theearth, they took with them the worship of the divine mother and child, uTheearth was in darkness.

Around 300 A.D., when RomanCatholicism came into existence, Constantine knew if he would adopt the worship of the goddess mother into their religious system then countless pagans would convert to Roman Catholicism. (Catholic means universal.)

Abraham 11:10-25:18

I. The Early Life of Abraham

Abraham was named Abram at birth (meaning: father of a multitude.) He was the son of Terah and the founding patriarch of the great Hebrew nation. He lived approximately from 1996-1822 B.C. His family, a branch of the descendants of Shem, was settled in Ur of the Chaldees, beyond the Euphrates.

Terah had two other sons, Nahor and Haran. Haran died in Ur of the Chaldees, leaving a son, Lot. Sometime following Haran's death, Terah took Abram, with Sarai his wife and his grandsonLot, and emigrated north to the city of Haran in Mesopotamia. Although the nameof his son "Haran" and the name of the city "Haran" are spelled identical inEnglish, they are spelled differently in the Hebrew. Terah died while in Haran.br clear=all

II. The Land of Promise

READ GENESIS CHAPTERS 12 THROUGH 14.

After the death of his father, Abram, 75-years-old, with Sarai and Lot, pursued the land of Canaan. It was by Divine direction and command he chose this course when he received the general promise that he would become the founder of a great nation in Genesis 12:1-3.

He passed through the heart of the country by the great highway to Shechem. SichemShechem means "the neck(between the shoulders); the place of burden." It was in Shechem where hereceived in vision from Jehovah the further revelation that this was the landwhich his descendants should inherit. Abram put his shoulder to the task andbared the responsibility of fulfilling the will of God. The Chrisitan life isnot all ease, but is filled with duty and responsibility. We must take the workof God seriously and with earnestness.

The next halting-place of the sojourner was on a mountain between Bethel and Ai where he built an altar. At the time, the country was suffering from famine and Abram journeyed still southward to therich corn-lands of Egypt. There, fearing that the great beauty of Sarai mighttempt the powerful monarch of Egypt and expose his own life to peril, hearranged that Sarai should call herself his sister. Sarai was probably thedaughter of his brother Haran which made their story at best a "half-truth." Sarai's beauty was reported to the king of Egypt, and she was taken into the royal harem. The deception was discovered, and Pharaoh with some indignation dismissed Abram from the country although with great possessions. Accompanied by tag-a-longLot, Abram returned north to southern Palestine to his former encampment between Bethel and Ai.

Eventually, Abram and Lot parted ways. The increased wealth of the two kinsmen was the ultimate cause of their separation.

Genesis13:6,7a--And the land was not able to bear them, that they might dwell together: for their substance was great, so that they could not dwell together. And there was a strife between the herdmen of Abram's cattle and the herdmen ofLot's cattle:

Abram gave Lot the choice for a possession of land and he chose the fertile plain of the Jordan near Sodom. Abram continued his journey as a nomad in obedience to God.

Genesis 13:17--Arise, walk through the land in the length of it and in the breadth of it; for I will give it unto thee.

While Abram had pitched his tent in the plain of Mamre (close to Hebron) where he built an altar, Lot was being taken captive by Chedorlaomer king of Elam, who had invaded Sodom. When news ofLot's abduction reached Abram, he pursued the conquerors and utterly routed thefour kings that had defeated five other kings. God had blessed Abram with thisvictory not very far from Damascus. The captives and plunder were allrecovered, and Abram was greeted on his return by the king of Sodom, and byMelchizedek king of Salem, priest of the Most-High God, who mysteriously appears upon the scene to bless and receive from him a tenth of the spoil. The three-times-repeated promise that his descendants should become a mighty nationand possess the land in which he was a stranger was then confirmed with all thesolemnity of a religious ceremony. Abram refused even a 'shoe-latchet" from thespoil of his victory so that none could say "I have made Abram rich." Abramsecured his blessing from God in refusing every other source. All the glorybelonged to God.

III. The Production of the Flesh

READ GENESIS CHAPTERS 15 THROUGH 17 AND 21:1-21.

Ten years had passed since he had left his father's house, and the fulfilment of the promise was apparently more distant than at first. At the suggestion of Sarai, who despaired of havingchildren of her own, he took as his concubine Hagar. Hagar was Sarai's Egyptianmaid. Hagar bore Ishmael when Abram was 86 years old. Although Abram now had ason, this was NOT the accomplishment of the Divine promise.

Thirteen years elapsed, during which Abram still dwelt in Hebron, when the covenant was renewed, and the rite of circumcision established as its sign. Here, when he was 99 years old, is Abram'sname was changed to Abraham, (meaning: father of many nations) and Sarai's name became Sarah. The promise that Sarah should have a sonwas repeated in the remarkable scene described in chapter 18. Three men stoodbefore Abraham as he sat in his tent door in the heat of the day. The patriarch, with true Eastern hospitality, welcomed the strangers, and bade them rest and refresh themselves. The meal ended, they foretold the birth of Isaac, and wenton their way to Sodom. Abraham pleads with God for Sodom and through Abraham'sintercession Lot and his family were saved.

At length, Isaac, the promised son, was born. Sarah was angered by the mockery of Ishmael at the "great banquet" which Abraham made to celebrate the weaning of his son. In Genesis21:10, Sarah demanded that Ishmael and Hagar should be driven out.

IV. Promised Son and a Test

READ GENESIS 22.

Despite the great struggle within his own house, the severest trial of Abraham's faith was yet to come. For possibly 25-30 years, the Biblical record is silent concerning Abraham, but at lengthhe receives the strange command to take Isaac, his only son, and offer him fora burnt offering at an appointed place. Abraham did not hesitate to obey.

Hebrews 11:17-19--By faith Abraham, when he was tried, offered up Isaac: and he that had received the promises offered up his only begotten son, 18 Of whom it was said, That inIsaac shall thy seed be called: 19 Accounting that God was able to raise himup, even from the dead; from whence also he received him in a figure.

The sacrifice was stayed by the angel of Jehovah, the promise of spiritual blessing was made for the first time, and Abraham with his son returned to Beersheba.

Your treasured possession is never really yours until you have come to the place (Mount Moriah) where you release it to God. Matthew 16:25

Isaac was the child of God's promise. There was no sin in Abraham having him, but Abraham had to be willing to lose him to God, before he couldreally keep him.

Matt.16:25; Eccl. 3:6; Prov.23:26; Psalm 37:4; I Chron. 15:15; Gen. 22:7

The Lord required of Abraham that which was PRECIOUS to him.lsaac was the long prayed for and desired son. What is precious to you? (Aposition in ministry? Etc.)

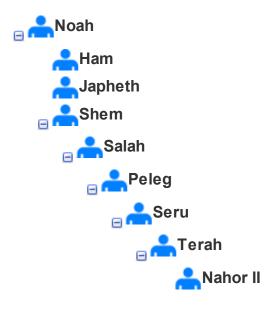

V.13,14 Jehovah-jireh the Lord my Provider --Isaac was not to be Abraham's hope. Abraham's hope had to rest solely in God.

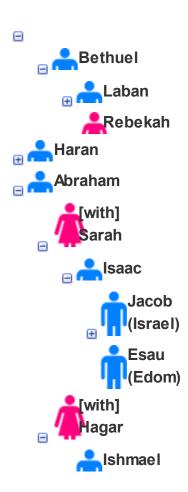

For a time, Abraham dwelt inBeersheba, but we find him after a few years in his original residence atHebron, for there Sarah died, and was buried in the cave of Machpelah. Theremaining years of Abraham's life are marked by few incidents. After Isaac'smarriage with Rebekah and his removal to Lahai-roi, Abraham took to wifeKeturah, by whom he had six children, Zimran, Jokshan, Medan, Midian, Ishbokand Shuah, who became the ancestors of nomadic tribes inhabiting the countries south and south-east of Palestine. Abraham lived to see the gradual accomplishment of the promise in the birth of his grandchildren Jacob and Esau, and witnessed their growth to manhood. At the goodly age of 175 he was "gathered to his people," and laid beside Sarah in the tomb of Machpelah by his sons Isaac and Ishmael.

VI. FAMILY TREE

Isaac (25:19-35:29)

Isaac was the son of Abraham and Sarah whose name means laughter. (17:17; 18:12; 21:6.) He was born at Gerar when Abraham was 100 years of age and Sarah was about 90 years old. (17:17-21;21:3-12)

Isaac's is one of the few cases which God selected a name for a child and announced it before he was born. In the Old Testament we have: Isaac, Ishmael, Solomon, Josiah, Cyrus, and Isaiah's son; in the New Testament we have: John the Baptist and Jesus.

Isaac is the child of the covenant and was circumcised at eight days old. According to Josephus, Isaac was 25 years old at his offering on Mount Moriah in Genesis 22:12. Isaac is also typical of Christ who gave Himself for our sins. Isaac's mother, Sarah, died when he was 36 years old. After his mother's death, Isaac married Rebekah. Isaac is the only Patriarch that had only one wife. This account in Genesis 24 is typical to us of the Bride of Christ. Isaac had two sons: Jacob and Esau. Isaac lived 180 years.

Jacob (25:26-47:31)

Jacob means supplanter, that is, the heel-holder, one who comes behind and catches the heel of his adversary. He was the twin brother to Esau who was the elder. God transformed Jacob the Supplanter into Israel The Prince of God. There was a great process to Jacob's character development and no other Bible character represents more fully the conflict between the lower and higher natures, than Jacob.

Beginning on the downgrade, Jacob's life reaches glorious heights only to sink again into the sordid struggle for gain. Jacob emergences at the very last upon the plane of triumphant faith. in spite of all his weaknesses, no devout reader who studies the history of this man's career can doubt that he was a chosen instrument of God.

I. KEY THOUGHTS

There are two key thoughts which open up his life and throw light upon his history:

1) The unhappiness produced by family trouble and polygamy.

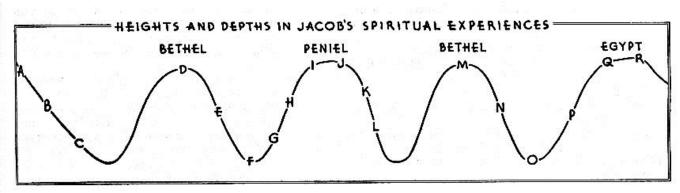

This fact is illustrated throughout his entire career.

2) The transforming power of fellowship with God.

This truth shines clearly through all the loftier experiences of this chosen man. In the diagram an attempt is made to illustrate the human and Divine elements manifested in his life. The crooked line marks the mountain peaks and low levels of his career.

II. NOTE: The letters refer to points on the diagram.

Joseph (30:1-50:26)

I. His Birth

Rachel was barren and very frustrated because of it. She even turned her frustration on her husband, Jacob and blamed him for her barrenness. Out of their marital spat sprouted a plan in Rachel's mind-they would borrow from Abraham and Sarah's idea of substitutionary impregnation. This and further competitive efforts with Leah resulted in ten children for Jacob, but failed to satisfy the heart of Rachel because the desire of her heart was to have a child of her own. Verse 22 says that God "remembered" Rachel and gave her a son. This does not infer that God forgot Rachel, but emphasizes the point God recognized or was mindful of her at this ordained time. Rachel felt forgotten and worthless, but God had a plan to bless her.

Rachel's self-worth was wrapped up in her ability to give Jacob at least one son and she felt like a reproach because of her barrenness. Her testimony of victory was that God had taken away her reproach in giving her a son, Joseph. Only God can take away the reproach of sin. There is no ability in man to please God outside of the redemptive work of Christ. No effort of the sinner can produce life, but by the miracle of salvation is our "barrenness" and "reproach" removed! Not only did God heal her barrenness and remove her reproach, but he restored her faith. She called her son Joseph meaning may God add or increase; added because she knew the Lord would add to her another son. She was right because she eventually gave birth to Benjamin. Alas, Rachel died from the difficulty of his birth.

II. His Character

A. Excellence

Joseph was one of the most outstanding men of the Bible because of his personal character and despite intense difficulties overall excellence in life. Jacob's favoritism in giving him the coat of many colors and even the Lord's special attention to Joseph in giving him dreams of future exaltation provoked his brothers to envy.

COAT: It was a coat of long sleeves which was the garment of a boss and not a worker. It was a coat of many colorswhich greatly differed from everyday work clothes which necessitated noexpensive dyes or colorings. The coat undeniably made a distinction between Joseph and his brethren. (His father's special favor toward Joseph was because of Rachel.)

B. Dreamer

Joseph was a spiritual though youthful dreamer whose dreams came true even though he was initially rejected by his brethren. Hold onto the dreams God gives because they are a compass for life.

DREAM 1: His brothers" sheaves of wheat bowed down to Joseph's sheaf.

DREAM 2: Sun, Moon and Eleven Stars bowed down to Joseph.

C. Faithful

Joseph was enslaved, falsely accused and forgotten by men, but was faithful even in the hard places. Joseph enjoyed the presence of God and won the confidence of his master. Joseph had physical good looks, but it was never a snare to him. Joseph resisted temptation and was silent amid foul accusations and unjust punishment. Joseph the interpreter of dreams proved that "prison walls do not a prisoner make." Joseph is a perfect type of Christ and of the Overcomer. Joseph manifested great wisdom, brotherly love, filial devotion and utter submission to God. (Gen. 43:20; 45:8,14,23; 47:7.) He knew how to return good for evil and God preserved his family through his generosity.

Exodus

I. PurposeTheme:

The Exodus (or "departure") of the Jews from Egyptian bondage--DELIVERANCE and REDEMPTION.

II. Key Verse:

"And I am come down to deliver them out of the hand of the Egyptians, and to bring them up out of that land unto a good land and a large, unto a land flowing with milk and honey; unto the place of the Canaanites, and the Hittites, and the Amorites, and the Perizzites, and the Hivites, and the Jebusites." 3:8

III. Main People:

IV. Pharaoh; Moses and his brother, Aaron.

V. Brief Outline:

- I. Suffering in Egypt (1:1-13:16)
- II. Journeying Toward & Arriving at Sinai (13:17-19:25)
- III. Giving God's Law to His People (20-24)
- IV. Building God's Tabernacle (25-40)

VI. When Events Happened:

around 1500 B.C.

Moses' Birth -> Burning Bush -> 10 Plagues -> Red Sea Crossing -> 10 Commandments Given

VII. INTRODUCING EXODUS

The title of this Book comes from the Septuagint in which it is called "Exodus" which means "going out." This title refers to the Israelite "going out" from Egypt. This book is called in Hebrew Bibles "these are the names" (Weelleh Shemoth) which is the opening clause of the book. The introductory genealogy shows how in a relatively short time, Israel and His family greatly multiplied literally fulfilling God's promise to Abraham. The book of Exodus was probably once conjoined as one book with Genesis and comprises a period of about one hundred and forty-five years, from the death of Joseph to the construction of the tabernacle in the desert.

Suffering in Egypt (1:1-13:16)

I. The Slavery of the Israelites (CH. 1)

Israel was a small nomadic people("70 souls" 1:5) going into Egypt, but were fruitful and multiplied so that the land was filled with them (1:7). At the Exodus, there were approximately two million Jews.

Pharaoh gifted the fertile lands and river delta of the mighty Nile River known as Goshen to Joseph's family. This land started as a land of liberty and abundance, but eventually was transformed into a land of bondage. Joseph, his brethren, and all their generation died and a new king rose to power that "knew not Joseph." [The Hyksos ("foreignrulers" from the Northeast) may have invaded Egypt shortly after Joseph's death. This fact might be part of why the Hebrews fell out of favor with the Egyptians so quickly.] This Pharaoh feared the great numbers of Israel and instituted a plan of affliction. The Egyptians discovered that the harder they afflicted the Hebrews, the more they prospered! During the most intense periodsof persecution, the Church of God has grown. The winds of persecution only fanthe fires of revival! Let us compare some of the phrases describing Israel and the efforts of Pharaoh:

ISRAELITES	EGYPTIANS
Fruitful, increased abundantly, multiplied, waxed exceeding mighty, land was filled with them, more and mightier than we [EGYPTIANS]	Set over them taskmasters to afflict them with their burdens, built for Pharaoh, they were grieved because oflsrael, [make] to serve with rigour, made lives bitter with hard bondage
the more they multiplied and grew	The more they afflicted them
the people multiplied and waxed very mighty	if it be a son, then ye shall kill him

Pharaoh" strategy to kill the malechildren failed utterly because the midwives chose to fear God over man. Godprotected and blessed the midwives, Shiprah and Puah, for their courage. "Godmade them houses," that is, He protected them and allowed them to have manychildren themselves. Pharaoh responded to this rebellion by opening the chargeof murder to every Egyptian. It is upon this bloody and dangerous scene thatMoses made his entrance as an innocent Levite baby. This decree was probably given sometime after Aaron's birth and retracted very shortly after Moses'birth. (Perhaps, baby Moses' influence on Pharaoh's daughter had something todo with its end.)

II. The Call of Moses to be Leader and Deliverer (CH. 2-4)

A. 2:1-4 Moses' Parent's Plan: Trust God

Both being Levites, Amram and Jochebed married. They had two children before Moses, Aaron and Miriam. The Scripture says that Miriam took notice that Moses was a "goodly" child. A mother has ever seen an ugly baby, but maybe the looming edict of death caused Jochebed to appreciate her healthy baby boy a little more. Every new life is so precious and a gift from God. Pharoah's edict was horrendous and can only be compared to the hundreds of millions of abortions that that have been committed in the past 40 years. One look at that sweet, happy baby and Jochebed was determined no one, not even Pharaoh, was going to kill her baby. For three months she hid him. She had to muffle everycry and perhaps cover him with blankets every time she heard voices or footsteps outside. Jochebed took every precaution and was a diligent guardian of her precious cargo, but she realized, as her baby grew, it was only a matter of time before he would be discovered.

Exodus 2:3—And when she could not longer hide him, she took for him an ark of bulrushes, and daubed it with slime and with pitch, and put the child therein; and she laid itin the flags by the river's brink.

The ark was a small boat or basket made of the Egyptian reed called papyrus. This was a somewhat common application in Egypt because more sturdy resources were not plenteous.

B. 2:5-10 Discovered, Named and Raised by Pharaoh's Daughter.

Miriam patiently guarded her brother placed gently among the protective "flags" or reeds (probably papyrus). By instinctive motherly precautions and Divine appointment, the ark was placed in plain sight to Pharaoh's daughter as she bathed in the Nile. This was a bold move, but because God was leading the way, Moses was as safe as he possibly could be! The baby touched the heart of Pharaoh's daughter and because she drew him out of the water, she named him Moses. Pharaoh's daughter (Historian Josephus suggests her name was Thermuthis) commissioned Moses' own mother to nurse and care for him until he was weaned.

C. 2:11-15 Moses Murders and Flees.

Moses was dissatisfied and incomplete abiding in Pharaoh's place. He makes an amazing to choice to be with his Hebrew people instead of with the Egyptians. One day Moses took an inspective look at the condition of the Hebrews and was greatly angered as he witnessed the unjust treatment his people endure.

Exodus 2:11,12—...he spied an Egyptian smiting an Hebrew, one of his brethren. 12 ...he slew the Egyptian, and hid him in the sand.

Moses heart was to deliver his people from their bondage, but this was NOT God's method. God had a plan that involved the Egyptians sending off the Hebrews and giving them riches as apartial restitution. (3:21) Moses had to flee for his life to Midian because there were witnesses to his murder and Pharaoh sought for his life.

D. 2:16-22 Moses Rescues the Daughters of Reul and Dwells in Midian.

Midian is a land of Arabia east of the Red Sea near Mount Sinai. When Moses reached Midian, he witnessed thebullying of the seven daughters of the priest Reul. Moses plays the part of a hero and defends them against the brutish shepherds. As a reward for his heroics, he was invited for supper and eventually given Zipporah to marry. Zipporah gave birth to Gershom whose name means a stranger here orrefugee. Moses also had a second son named Eliezar (18:4), but mysteriouslythere is no mention of him in this particular passage. The addition would be necessary here because Exodus 4:20 says that Moses took his wife and sons with him when he eventually returned to Egypt. Moses took up the vocation of shephered during his forty years in Midian.

Exodus 3:1—Now Moses kept the flock of Jethro his father in law, the priest of Midian:

When comparing Exodus 2:18 and 3:1,there is some explanation necessary to justify the use of the two names "Reul"and "Jethro" for both of these names are seemingly given as names for Moses"father-in-law. The identical Hebrew word we translate father-in-law in Exodus3:1 is translated son-in-law in Genesis 19:14. Many learned scholars of Hebrew are puzzled by this word, but it seems to be a general term for a relative by marriage, and the context of its use can only identify its precisemeaning. With this in mind, some have speculated that Reul was the name ofMoses" father-in-law and Jethro or Hobab was Reul's son, and Moses"brother-in-law. It is still possible that Reul, Jethro, Raguel, Hobab, Keyniare all names of one man, Moses" father-in-law. A third possibility is Ruel was the grandfather of Zipporah and Jethro was the immediate father of the seven sisters and Moses" father-in-law. (Ex 2:18; 3:1; 4:18; 18:1; Nu 10:29; Judges1:16; 4:11)

E. 2:23-4:28 God Sets His Great Plan of Deliverance in Motion.

About Forty years after Moses fled fromEgypt, the king of Egypt died. Pharaoh's death made Moses" return to Egypt possible since he had made search for Moses for murdering the Egyptian. Also, at this time the cry for deliverance among the Hebrew slaves was coming to a.climax. God heard their groaning and in remembrance of his covenant withAbraham, Isaac and Jacob and had respect unto them, that is, God regardedtheir plight and did not ignore their cry.

In response to Israel's cry, God set in motion his miraculous plan of deliverance by making a most unusual visit to Moses. Moses, who kept the flock of Jethro, led the flock to the backside ofthe desert to the mountain of God (this mountain had two peaks named Horeb and Sinai. Sinai is the most popular name since it means bush and makes reference to the miraculous visitation of God.) As he made his climb up the mount, Moses was startled by the sight of a bush on fire that was not consumed by the flame. The fact the bush did not burn up was a great curiosity to Moses and he turned aside to inspect it. The fire was not God, but God spoke out of the midst of the fire. God is spoken of as a fire in many other verses of Scripture, but only as a figure of speech.

- 1)The Fire that Did not Consume theBush spoke of God's mercy. Just as the bush was not consumed, Moses was able to speak with and look upon themanifestation of God without dying. The saints of God are not destroyed by thefire of God, but are purified by it! Compare Psalm 68:2 and Luke 3:16.
- 2)A Consuming Fire speaks of the intensity and heat of God's jealousy for His people. (Deut. 4:24;9:3; Eze. 36:5; 2 Thess. 1:8; Rev. 20:9)

Moses had several questions and although they were evidences of his own weaknesses, now was definitely the time to deal with them! If Moses waited until he stood before Pharaoh to count thecost and the ramifications of his quest, he might have backed down to the kingand made a hasty retreat. There is never a benefit in being anything less than 100% open to God because there is no escaping His judgment. We can either faceHis anger now while it is mixed with mercy or later when eternal judgment isset. It does not get any easier by trying to avoid correction. Moses istransparent before God with his questions and after some rebuke and instruction from the Lord, he is all the better for it:

- 1. Who aml? 3:11,12 God not only ordained Moses to speak, but gave him the very words to say. Moses was sent under the authority of Almighty God and not undersome birth right of his own.
- 2. What is Your name? 3:13-22 IAM (Compare with John 18:6.)
- 3. What if they do not believe me? 4:1-9 Two signs (The Rod & Leprosy) were given to Moses. They spoke of the call, will and authority ofGod. The minister of God goes in the name of God and these signs shall follow them that believe. (Mark 16:17)
- 4. Cansomeone else do this because I am not able to speak? 4:10-17 God responds with a very strong rebuke of Moses.

F. 4:18-26, Moses learned a serious lesson: God requires implicit (exact) obedience.

God will keep His Word and expects us to keep our end of the bargain. Moses' slackness almost cost him his life and he was only rescued by the action of Zipporah.

G. 4:27-31 Moses is Reunited with Aaron & Received by Israel.

The people saw the signs and believed and worshipped God for His recognition of their bondage.

- H. The Preparation of Moses
 - 1. Moses was divinely positioned in a place where he could be molded into what God wanted him to be.

Though assisted by Jochabed, Moses only ended up in the arms of Pharaoh's daughter by the will of God.

a. Moses was taught in Egypt

Acts 7:22—And Moses was learned in all the wisdom of the Egyptians, and was mighty in words and in deeds.

The education the Egyptian's gave Moses prepared him for his mission from God. Unless we have a fluent understanding of natural things (especially reading and writing) then we are greatly disadvantaged from having a complete understanding of the things of God. Moses was 40 years in Egypt.

In Pharaoh's house, Moses benefited from the knowledge and luxuries of Egypt. After all the thorough training Egypt had to offer, Moses still had much to learn about following God and leading God's people.

b. Moses was trained in Midian

Jethro was a descendent of Abraham (though not through Isaac) and explained a little (or perhaps much) about the one true God that his ancestors served. In Midian, Moses was trained in the ways of God. God wants us to study His Word and His Ways.

2 Timothy 2:15—Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman the needeth not be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth.

Moses was 40 years in the wilderness. That makes 80 years of training altogether.

Moses was tested on the small tasks until it was time for him to take the role of deliverer.

Many of the lessons Moses learned came by simple life tasks. By learning to lead sheep, Moses was learning to lead the Israelites. God wants us to learn diligence and faithfulness. The wilderness is a place of testing and trial. No one ever said God's will would be easy, and things that are easy usually are not worth anything.

III. The Challenge of Pharaoh's Power (CH. 5-11)

Nine times in this account we read the phrase "let My people go." It was God's will that the Hebrews be free and He worked it out exactly as He had promised (3:21). It was God's will that the Egyptians would send out the Hebrews and that Israel would not gain their independence merely by a military revolt. This sending out would eventually include the Egyptians giving much wealth and gifts to the Hebrews as they left.

For this impossibility to take place much had to change in the hearts and minds of the Egyptians. God preparedPharaoh and the Egyptians for the great sending away of the Hebrews by establishingHe alone was God and there was no false god in Egypt that could stand againstJehovah. With precision greater than any surgeon, in only ten plagues Godmethodically embarrassed the supposed gods of Egypt.

	The Ten Plagues on Egypt
#	Exodus	Judgment	False god defeated	Description of false god
1	7:20	Water into Blood	OSIRIS	god of the Nile River
2	8:06	Plague of Frogs	HEKI	frog goddess
3	8:17	Plague of Lice	SEB	earth god
4	8:24	Plague of Flies	HATKOK	wife of Osiris
5	9:06	Cattle Disease	APIS	sacred bull god
6	9:10	Boils	IMHOTEP	he was a physician
7	9:24	Hail with Fire	SHU	god of the atmosphere
8	10:13	Plague of Locusts	SERAPIA	The god who protects
9	10:22	Three Days of Darkness	RA	The sun god
10	12:29	Death of First Born	ALL	Exodus 12:12

In nine verses, we have the condition of Pharaoh's heart described: hard. The Scripture says that the Lord hardened Pharaoh's heart, but also that Pharaoh hardened hisown heart. God is able to turn the heart of kings without breaking the law of Free-Will.

It was because of Pharaoh's own choices that such terrible things came upon Egypt andGod took this opportunity not only to bring judgment on Egypt for hermistreatment of Israel, but also to humble her. There is only one God who madeHeaven and earth and there is NO God besides Him. This fact was undeniablyestablished by God's great deliverance of the Hebrew slaves.

IV. The Passover—a Picture of Jesus as Savior (12:1-13:16)

Conclusion of the plagues: Midnight of April 14th

Israel's deliverance from Egypt is the most important happening of the Old Testament (only their rejection of Christ in the New Testament could be considered more important). The nightbefore Israel's exodus was a night of solemn ceremony that would be remembered for ever (12:24). Even to this day the night of the Passover is commemorated every year and because the Passover took place on April 14th

What was the Passover and what is its spiritual significance?

Details of the Passover	Typology of the Passover
It marked the night before the Exodus	God's great deliverance out of sin—Salvation
Each house chose a lamb—spotless	Christ was without sin and the perfect sacrifice
Lamb was brought in house on the 10th	Christ lived with men for over 33 years
Night of April 14th	Christ was offered as a sacrifice for all
Blood of Lamb applied to house door	Blood of Christ must be applied to every heart
Ate the Passover lamb	Each person must possess the life of Christ
Ate unleavened bread, bitter herbs 7 days	The Word of God with no mixture or additives
Angel of Death passed over all Egypt	Wages of sin-death BUT God's gift-eternal life
Remember this day for ever	A testimony to all generations of God's might

The word "Passover" can be found in 72 verses. The Hebrew word for Passover means exemption. The word "Passover" describes how all who properly applied the blood of a lamb to their house were exempted from the work of the death angel or passed over.

The night before His crucifixion, Christ kept the Passover with His disciples. He is the final and true Passover lamb. The blood of Jesus Christ is the only means of exemption from the wages of sin!

Journeying Toward and Arriving at Mount Sinai (13:17-19:25)

- I. The Exodus from Egypt (13:17-14:31)
 - A. Israel's Course as Designed by God
 - Exodus 13:17—And it came to pass, when Pharaoh had let the people go, that God led them not through the way of the land of the Philistines, although that was near; for God said, Lest peradventure the people repent when they see war, and they return to Egypt:

[1)Succoth 2)Etham 3)Red Sea 4)Wilderness of Shur 5)Marah 5)Elim 7)Wilderness of Sin 8)Rephidim (Mt. Horeb, MassahMeribah) 9)Wilderness of Sinai (from the 3rd month until the 20th)

B. Israel's Bounty as Determined by God"

"Harnessed" — During the early morning hours of April 15th, all the Israeli men (about 600,000, Exodus 12:37) and their families crossed the borders of Egypt. Approximately 2-3 million Jews left Egypt. Exodus 12:40—Now the sojourning of the children of Israel, whodwelt in Egypt, was four hundred and thirty years.

They were also accompanied by a mixed multitude. (Ex.12:38; Zech. 8:23)

C. Joseph's Bones Recovered as Demanded by Joseph

Exodus 13:19—And Moses took the bones of Joseph with him: for he had straitly sworn the childrenof Israel, saying, God will surely visit you; and ye shall carry up my bonesaway hence with you.

D. Israel's Path as Daily Led by God

Hebrews 13:21—And the LORD went before them by day in a pillar of a cloud, to lead them the way;and by night in a pillar of fire, to give them light; to go by day and night:

E. Pharaoh's Pursuit of the Delayed Israelites

Ex 14:5 ... Why have we done this, that we have let Israel go from serving us?

F. Moses' Attempt to Deter Israel's Fear

10 And when Pharaoh drew nigh, the children of Israel lifted up their eyes, and, behold, the Egyptians marched after them; and they were sore afraid: and the children of Israel cried out unto the LORD.

G. God's Honor Declared Over Pharoah

17 I will get me honour upon Pharaoh, and upon all his host, upon his chariots, and upon his horsemen. 18 And the Egyptians shall know that I am the LORD, when I havegotten me honour upon Pharaoh, upon his chariots, and upon his horsemen.

H. Pharaoh's Destruction in the Red Sea

God sent his "army" to stand between the hosts of Egypt and His people!

II. Moses' Song and Miriam's Dance (15:1-21)

A. The Singing of the Miracle

"...I will sing unto the Lord..." v.1

This Song of Moses is an act of PRAISE, FAITH, & REJOICING. (In Deuteronomy 31:22, 30 Moses can be found singing again.) It is the action of the true and loving God to inspire song through a trial.

Francis Jane Van Alstyne (1820-1915) was a great Christian poet and hymn writer. Though blinded as an infant due to negligence of a doctor, Francis was known for her cheerful and happy disposition. She wrote over 9,000 songs and poems of praise to God! Publishers used many different pseudonyms when publishing her songs so that their hymnals would not appear to have been almost entirely written by one person! (She is more commonly remembered by the pen name Fanny J. Crosby.)

1. All the glory is GOD'S.

HIS Power, HIS Victory, HE IS a Man of War, the LORD is HIS name, hath HE cast, HIS right hand, in the greatness of THINE Excellency, THY wrath, THY nostrils, THY wind = "WHO IS LIKE UNTO THEE"

2. This is a song of FAITH.

God's great deliverance from under Pharaoh' hand, Pharaoh's destruction and the miracle of the parted waters with dry land created a personal faith in the Israelite'shearts. These acts were evidence to the fact that God's Word was true andreliable.

a. They saw for themselves WHO GOD IS.

Instead of asking "Where is the God our Fathers?" as before, Moses and Israel shout "the LORD is become MY salvation" out of a new found knowledge and appreciation of WHOGod is. ("LORD"Jehovah is the covenant keeping name of God.)

The phrase "The Lord is become" is descriptive of Israel's understanding and not a declaration that some metamorphosis has taken over God. God has not, will not and cannot change! In witnessing this great event, God has become magnified in the eyes of the Hebrews. As when we witness the hand of God move in our lives and our hearts are immediately full of the reality of the power, love and nearness of God, so Moses now sings: The Lord is become my salvation and His right hand has become glorious in power. God was already their salvation and power has always belonged to God, but now Israel vividly REALIZESit.

b. They saw for themselves what THEY MUST DO.

Faith and Commitment go hand in hand.

"I will sing unto the Lord" - "I will prepare Him an habitation"

c. They saw for themselves WHAT GOD CAN DO & WILL DO.

"He hath..." (triumphed, cast, dashed, guided, bring them in, etc.)

"He shall" v.14-18 (melt, bring them in, reign forever and ever, etc.)

3. This song followed by dancing was absolutely proper.

Moses' elevated praise and Miriam's holy dance were the only proper responses. God had triumphed gloriously, cast into the sea, dashed in pieces, displayed the greatness of His excellency, consumed them as stubble, caused the floods to stand upright as a heap with the breath of His nostril, and the enemy was stopped dead in his tracks. THIS WAS AN EXCEPTIONALDAY worthy of an exceptional song and outward expression of honor andthanksgiving to God.

Exodus 15:20-21—And Miriam the prophetess, the sister of Aaron, took a timbrel in her hand; and all the women went out after her with timbrels and with dances. 21 And Miriam answered them, Sing ye to the LORD, for he hath triumphed gloriously; the horse and his rider hath he thrown into the sea.

B. The Scope of the Miracle

1. ISRAEL'S FAITH WAS STRENGTHENED

"the Lord is my strength and song" v.2

2. EGYPT's HOSTS WERE DESTROYED

"dashed in pieces the enemy" v.6

3. NATURE'S POWER WAS SUBMITTED

"Congealed the Waters"(v.8; Job 10:10; Zep 1:12; Zec 14:6)

4. CANAAN'S HEARTS WERE CONQUERED

"Fear and dread shall fall upon them" v.16

C. The Significance of the Miracle

1. God is and always will be on His throne!

"The Lord shall reign forever and ever." v.18

The Lord will DO IT AGAIN! Because he delivered that day, they could know that God would deliver and be the salvation of His people ALWAYS. The fact that they served the living and only true God and that He is the one in control of all thingswas the greatest assurance of safety and success.

2. The enemy was STOPPED and can no longer pursue!

"...Pharaoh went...with his horsemen into the sea..." v.19

Pharaoh recanted his decision to liberate the Hebrews and tried to haul them back in chains. God saw to it that this would never happen. God destroyed Pharaoh and the hearts of the Egyptians were conquered. Egypt had no claim on the Hebrews anymore.

3. The people of God WENT ON and, can now possess their inheritance!

"Israel went on dry land" v.19

III. From the Red Sea to the Foot of Mount Sinai

A. No Water in the Wilderness of Shur (15:22)

Exodus 15:22—So Moses brought Israel from the Red sea, and they went out into the wilderness of Shur; and they went three days in the wilderness, and found no water.

Shur was a city on the north-eastern border of Egypt that was close to the location of modern Suez and it is also the name of its adjoining desert that stretches toward Canaan. The name Shurmeans "wall or that which limits" and was probably the last Arabiantown before entering Egypt.

It is mentioned elsewhere inScripture: Hagar's Flight (Gen 16:7) Abraham dwelled between Kadesh and Shur(Gen. 20:1) and in Genesis 25:18; I Samuel 15:7; 27:8. It is also called "Etham" in Exodus 13:20 and Numbers 33:6-8;

B. Bitter Water in Marah (15:23-26)

Israel's condition of having no water in the wilderness of Shur was magnified by the discovery of water that was undrinkable. Marah means bitter.

Israel responds by murmuring for the second time since leaving Egypt (14:11,12) and continues a habit of complaining and murmuring when faced with an obstacle. This was part of the slave mentality that God designed to work out of them in the wilderness before bringing them into their inheritance. They had been slaves accustomed to defeat and mistreatment for so long, God had to teach them that they could overcome and be victors in the face of difficulty.

The miracle that occurs here is mysteriously suggestive of the cross of Christ. Moses casts a TREE into the waters which are sweetened and then God gives a mighty promise directly related to the sufferings of Christ on the cross.

v. 26 ... I will put none of these diseases upon thee, ...: for I am the LORD that healeth thee

Isaiah 53:5 But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities: the chastisement of our peace was upon him; and with his stripes we are healed.

C. Twelve Wells of Water in Elim (15:27)

... where were twelve wells of water, and uthreescore and ten palm trees:..

It is amazingly apparent by the discovery at Elim that God is purposefully and sovereignly teaching Israel to trust Him. God knew what is was deep in their hearts despite all the singing and dancing after the Red Sea crossing. Immediately following that mountaintop experience he leads them into a place with no water and then a place with water that cannot be drunk. After miraculously cleansing those waters, God providentially brings them to an oasis bursting with water. This was as if to say, "My children, whether there is no water or the water is too bitter todrink or there is clean water in abundance, I am your first need and you cantrust Me!"

The numbers 12 and 70 suggest something to us of Divine order and government and Divine providence. They remind us of the 12 tribes of Israel, the 12 Apostles, the 70 years of a man'slife (Psalm 90:10), 70 days the Egyptians mourned Jacob's death, the 70 yearsof the Babylonian captivity, Daniel's 70 weeks of years, the 70 members of the Sanhedrin, and the seventy disciples Christ sent out in Luke 10:1.

Giving the Law to God's People (CH. 20-24)

- I. Introduction to the Law of God (20:1-2)
 - A. God's Right to Command—HE IS GOD!
 - Exodus 20:2—I am the LORD thy God, which have brought thee out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage.

In 71 verses in the Pentateuch this reminder is given as a preface to His commands: "I am the Lord" and 29times: "I am the Lord thy God."

- Ecclesiastes12:13—Let us hear the conclusion of the whole matter: Fear God, and keep his commandments: for this is the whole duty of man.
 - B. Keeping His Commandments Brings Blessing
- Exodus 20:6—And shewing mercy unto thousands of them that love me, and keep my commandments.
- Psalm 119:143—Trouble and anguish have taken hold on me: yet thy commandments are my delights.
- John 15:10 If ye keep my commandments, ye shall abide in my love; even as I have kept my Father's commandments, and abide in his love.
- I John 5:3—For this is the love of God, that we keep his commandments: and his commandments are not grievous.

- Revelation 22:14—Blessed are they that do his commandments, that they may have right to the tree of life, and may enter in through the gates into thecity.

Building the Tabernacle of God (CH. 25-40)

The Tabernacle with its priesthood, furniture and functions will be explored in detail in other studies, but for now we will only see a bird's eye view at this spiritually rich subject.

I. Purpose & Pattern of the Tabernacle (CH. 25-27, 30-31, 36-39)

Moses vowed in his song in Exodus15: "I will prepare you a habitation." God's instruction on Mount Sinai concerning the tabernacle had not been given yet, but Moses appears to have received some insight beforehand. The tabernacle of God is first in the hearts of His people. The purpose of the tabernacle was to give God an earthly vesselin which to dwell. The tabernacle itself is a type of Christ and a pattern of the life of the Believer.

Materials for the Tabernacle came from the Free-will Offerings of the people.

Exodus 25:2--Speak unto the children of Israel, that they bring me an offering: of every man that giveth it willingly with his heart ye shall take my offering.

Introduction to Leviticus

I. Purpose and Theme of Leviticus

Leviticus theme of "holiness" and "access to God" answers the great question, "How can unholy men access a holy God?" The word holy occurs over 80 times in this book. The N.T. book of Hebrews is a close companion in theme to Leviticus.

II. Key Verse:

Leviticus 20:7-8—Sanctify yourselves therefore, and be ye holy: for I am the LORD your God. And ye shall keep my statutes, and do them: I am the LORD which sanctify you.

III. Main People:

The people who bring the offerings (people of God) and the people who sacrifice the offerings (priests).

IV. Key Thoughts:

Holiness ...ye shall therefore be holy, for I am holy. (11:45)

Access to God ... I will be sanctified in them that come nigh me... (10:3)

V. Brief Outline:

- I. Sacrifice and Separation—How can unholy men access a holy God? (1-7)
- II. The Priest—Priests went to God with the prayers and praises of the people. (8-10)
- III. Rules of CleanlinessHoliness—God cares about every detailof our lives. (11-22)
- IV. The Feasts (16,23)V. Final Instructions (24-27)

VI. The Name

The priestly ministry in the wilderness and the holy worship of Jehovah.

Levi was the third son of Jacob (Gen.29:34) and more importantly the tribe which produced Aaron (Ex.4:14) the first High Priest after the Levitical Priesthood. The priesthood and sacrifices, although, did not begin with Aaron(Heb. 7:11). When the Israelites left Egypt, the ancient manner of worship was still observed by them, the eldest son of each house inheriting the priest's office, but this change was made at Mount Sinai conferring upon Aaron and his sons this office.[1]

And take thou unto thee Aaron thy brother, and his sons with him, from among the children of Israel, that he may minister unto me in the priest's office....—Ex. 28:1

The Hebrews refer to this book as "The Priest's Law" [2]. The book of Hebrews is the source for the Vulgate title of this book and is its best commentary 1:

If therefore perfection were by the Levitical priesthood, (for under it the people received the law,) what further need was there that another priest should rise after the order of Melchisedec, and not be called after the order of Aaron?—Heb. 7:11; Ps. 110:4

NOTE: Paul is establishing the paramount conclusion that as important as the Law and specifically the priesthood of the Old Testament was, it was not established byGod as the end of His Divine purpose, but a building block and lesson preparingthe way for a more perfect system of communing with God. Heb. 9:11; 10:1

VII. The Setting

This book is generally held to be the work of Moses, though he was probably assisted by Aaron. Its date is B. C.1490. It contains the history of the first month of their second year afterleaving Egypt.sup1

Sacrifice and Separation (1:1-7:38)

I. The Amazing Grace of Substitutional Sacrifice

The reaches of God's grace extend far beyond what the human mind can understand. We are speechless and amazed at the grace and mercy of God. There is no human effort that could be even closelycompared to God's actions of love toward his people. All humanity was guilty ofthe greatest treason against God and yet Christ has positioned himself as oursin bearer and substitute! God has made provision so that the enemy can be become friend, the slave can be become a servant of love, and the outcast can become a beloved member of the family.

A student of the Bible and humanity must be puzzled with the same question as Nicodemus in John 3:9:

HOW CAN THESE THINGS BE?

"Approved Unto God" (II Tim. 2:15)

"Peace with God" (Rom. 5:1)

"Come boldly unto the throne of grace" (Heb. 4:16)

"Friend of God" (James 2:23)

"Be with Me [Jesus]" (Luke 23:43)

"Be Ye Holy" (Lev. 20:7)

II. The Purpose of the Old Testament Sacrifices

It is absolutely imperative that it be established in our minds that the redemption and justification of mankind is possible only through the ublood of Jesus.

Hebrews 9:12-14—Neither by the blood of goats and calves, but by his own blood he entered in once into the holy place, having obtained eternal redemption for us. For if the blood of bulls and of goats, and the ashes of an heifer sprinkling the unclean, sanctifieth to the purifying of the flesh: How much more shall uthe blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered himself without spot to God, purge your conscience from dead works to serve the living God?

In light of Christ's sacrifice on the cross, the "bloody" book of Leviticus comes alive with relevance. Leviticus is not outdated because of Christ's death, but still serves the same purpose as it did before His death. The purpose of the sacrifices of Leviticus and the sum of the Old Testament is to point to Christ. The law is a school master that makes clear definition of right, wrong, and remedy. As we look into this great study of Leviticus, keep in mind that each sacrifice, feast, and ordinance given by God is a portrait of Christ and his dealings with mankind.

III. (Whole) Burnt Offering, ch. 1

Acceptable Value Determined by "Pay Grade": herd flock fowl, vs.1,2 The principle is established here early on that God will not require an IMPOSSIBLE thing of his people. The offerings and sacrifices were regulated according to a person's ability and means. If a man was rich, he was certainly capable of a burnt offering of theherd, but a man of small means might find it a great sacrifice to part with merely the value of a fowl.

- A. Of the Herd, vs. 3-9 (cattle)
- B. Of the Flocks, vs. 4-13 (sheep, goats)
- C. Of the Fowls, vs. 14-17 (turtle doves, young pigeons)

- B. if the whole congregation of Israel sin through ignorance, vs. 13-26
- C. if anyone of the common people sin through ignorance, vs. 27-35

VI. Trespass Offering, ch. 5-6:7

A. Difference between the Sin Offering and the Trespass Offering, 5:1-6

The sin offering atoned for the offender, whereas, the trespass offering atoned only for a specific trespass. The sin offering can be considered as "general redemption" and the "trespassoffering" can be considered a "ransom" for a particular wrong. This provisionmostly involves those sins committed in ignorance. The Trespass Offering is asubclass of the Sin offering. The sin offering was presented at feast days anddone corporately, whereas trespass offerings were not and were more spontaneous.

- B. Confess& then Bring a Trespass Offering, 5:7-6:7
 - 1. Knew the true story and didn't tell it.
 - 2. Touched an unclean thing.
 - 3. Lied under oath by forgetfulness.
 - 4. Harmed any of the Holy things of God.
 - 5. Disobeyed any command of God.
 - 6. Deceived his neighbor.
 - 7. Guilty of "Finders-Keepers" Syndrome.
 - 8. BrokenPromises.

VII. Priestly Regulations of the Sacrifices, 6:8-7:38

- A. Burnt Sacrifices Regulated, 6:8-13
- B. Meat Offerings Regulated, 6:14-23

- C. Sin Offerings Regulated, 6:24-30
- D. Trespass Offerings Regulated, 7:1-10
- E. Peace Offerings Regulated, 7:11-34
- F. Conclusion & Summary, 7:35-38
- 7:35—This is the portion of the anointing of Aaron, and of the anointing of his sons, out of the offerings of the LORD made by fire, in the day when he presented them to minister unto the LORD in the priest's office;
- 7:37—This is the law of the burnt offering, of the meat offering, and of the sin offering, and of the trespass offering, and of the consecrations, and of the sacrifice of the upeace offerings;

VIII. The Separation of the People of God

God's people were expected to keep the law of God and live lies free of sin. But, a remedy was in place in the event the law was broken. This remedy ultimately is the atoning blood of Jesus but initially was the sacrifice of animals (beginning back in the garden of Eden) which points toward Christ's ultimate sacrifice.

The priests were to live separate in order to function in their priestly duties. Their very approval into the ministry required an implicit dedication and consecration to God.

In 7:37, the "consecrations" were the sacrifices and offerings which involved the dedication to God's service. The word "consecrations" literally means "a filling up, or filling ofthe hands." In Exodus 29:2, eil milluim, means the ram of filling up.

A persons hands were filled with an offering to present to God, when they were dedicated to God. The word consecration signifies the filling up or filling the hands. These class of offerings were not only for atonement but were also a means for approaching God. (The same principal is loosely paralleled in Esther 4:11.)

The Priest

II. The Preparation of the Priesthood (Ch. 8)

This chapter gives us an account of the solemn consecration of Aaron and his sons to the priest's office.[1]

- A. It was done publicly, and the congregation was called together to be witnesses of it, Lev. 8:1-4.
- B. It was done exactly according to God's appointment, Le 8:5.
- C. Verses 1-30
 - 1. They were washed and dressed, 6-9, 13.
 - 2. Thetabernacle, utensils and priests were anointed, 10-12.
 - 3. A sin-offering was offered for them, 14-17.
 - 4. Aburnt-offering, 18-21.
 - 5. The ram of consecration, 22-30.
 - 6. The continuance of this solemnity for seven days, 31.

D. Verses 31-36

Moses, having done his part of the ceremony, now leaves Aaron and his sons to do theirs.

1. They must boil the flesh of their peace offering, and eat it in the court of the tabernacle, and the remains were burnt with fire, Lev 8:31-32.

This signified their thankful consent to the consecration: when God gave Ezekiel his commission, he told himto eat the roll, (Eze 3:1-2.)

2. They must not stir out of the court of the tabernacle for seven days,

Untangling themselves with the norm of earthly life that they might pursue spiritual and eternal purposes.(Lev 8:33)

THE BLOOD COVENANT

"Blood is found in 66 verses in Leviticus.

I. What is a "covenant"?

HB01285. tyrb b@riyth, ber-eeth'from 1262 (in the sense of cutting (like 1254)); a compact (because made by passing between pieces of flesh):—confederacy, (con-)feder(-ate), covenant,league.

GR1242. diayhkh diatheke, dee-ath-ay'-kay from 1303; properly, a disposition, i.e. (specially) a contract(especially a devisory will):—covenant, testament.

—To the ancient Hebrews, a blood covenant was the most binding, sacred agreement that could be made.—

The making of a blood covenant seems to be a universal concept found among all peoples in even the most remote parts of the world. The custom of making blood covenants can be found among American Indians as well as in the deepest most remote parts of Africa. The origin of the blood covenant customs looms somewhere beyond the horizon of known history. The customs surround the making of a blood covenant among Hebrews involved:

INTRODUCTION TO NUMBERS

Remember, the Bible is first a spiritualBook. No matter what section of the Holy Scripture we study its highest concernwill always be a spiritual one.

The Bible is useful for business, reliable for history, and a fascinating read, but every precept laid out andrecorded account reveals a spiritual lesson:

- -1Genesis" creation is an elaborate revelation of salvation. Christ speaks life and light into our chaos and creates new life.
- -2The Hebrew Exodus parallels spiritual deliverance from the bonds of sin and this world.
- -3InNumbers, the Israelites" journey through the wilderness provokes thought concerning the spiritual themes of full reliance upon God and the life livedwalking in the Spirit. Numbers especially illustrates sanctification which aseparation from E

To the spiritual mind, a study of the O.T. law is quickening and provocative, but the carnal mind might find it lackluster.

ICorinthians2:14-16--But the natural man receiveth not the things of the Spirit of God: for they are foolishness unto him: neither can he know them, because they are spiritually discerned. 15 But he that is spiritual judgeth allthings, yet he himself is judged of no man. 16 For who hath known the mind of the Lord, that he may instruct him? But we have the mind of Christ.

The study of the offerings and priesthood is insightfully rich in teaching us how to approach a holy God andour service to Him. The blood of goats point to the Savior Jesus Christ and theinstruction of Moses is council from the ALMIGHTY GOD.

Do not study the Bible merely intellectually as a scholar, but devour the spirit of Its message heartily!

2 Corintians3:6-8--Who also hath made us able ministers of the new testament; not of the letter, but of the spirit: for the letter killeth, but the spirit giveth life.7 But if the ministration of death, written and engraven in stones, wasglorious, so that the children of Israel could not stedfastly behold the faceof Moses for the glory of his countenance; which glory was to be done away: 8How shall not the ministration of the spirit be rather glorious?

The thirty-six chapters of Numbers journal the details of a spiritual pilgrimage. It is a spiritual journal of spiritual journey toward a spiritual inheritance.

Chapter Three Census of the Levites

Numbers 3:39

All that were numbered of the Levites, which Moses and Aaron numbered at the commandment of the LORD, throughout their families, all the males from a month old and upward, were twenty and two thousand.

Adam Clarke's Commentary:

This total does not agree with the particulars; for the Gershonites were 7,500, the Kohathites 8,600, the Merarites 6,200, total22,300. Several methods of solving this difficulty have been proposed bylearned men; Dr. Kennicott's is the most simple. Formerly the numbers in the Hebrew Bible were expressed by letters, and not by words at full length; and if two nearly similar letters were mistaken for each other, many errors in the numbers must be the consequence. Now it is probable that an error has creptinto the number of the Gershonites, Nu 3:22, where, instead of 7,500, we should read 7,200, as K caph, 500, might have been easily mistaken for r resh, 200, especially if the down stroke of the caph had been a little shorter than ordinary, which is often the case in MSS. The extra 300 being taken off, the total is just 22,000, as mentioned in the 39th verse.

Chapter 19: "The Red Heifer"

Numbers19:2 This is the ordinance of the law which the LORDhath commanded, saying, Speak unto the children of Israel, that they bring theea red heifer without spot, wherein is no blemish, and upon which never cameyoke:

This chapter is only concerning the preparing and using of the ashes which were to infuse the water of purification. The people had complained of the strictness of the law, whichforbade their near approach to the tabernacle,

Num. 17:13 Whosoever cometh any thing near unto the tabernacle of the LORD shall die: shall we be consumed with dying?

In answer to this complaint, they are here directed to purify themselves, so as that they might come as far asthey had occasion without fear.

- I. The method of preparing these ashes, by the burning of a red heifer, with a great deal of ceremony, Nu 19:1-10.
- II. The way of using them.
- 1. They were designed to purify persons from the pollution contracted by a dead body, Nu 19:11-16.
- 2. They were to be put into running water (a small quantity of them), with which the person to be cleansed must be purified, Nu 19:17-22. And that this ceremonial purification was a type and figure of the cleansing of the consciences of believers from the pollutions of sin appears by the apostle's discourse, (Heb 9:13,14), where he compares the efficacy of the blood of Christ with the sanctifying virtue that was in the ashes of a heifer sprinkling the unclean."

In Numbers 19:1-10, We have here the divine appointment concerning the solemn burning of a red heifer to ashes, and the preserving of the ashes, that of them might be made, not a beautifying, but a purifying, water, for that was the utmost the law reached to; it offerednot to adorn as the gospel does, but to cleanse only. This burning of theheifer, though it was not properly a sacrifice of atonementfor wrong done, being not performed at the altar, yet was typical of thedeath and sufferings of Christ, by which he intended, not only to satisfy God'sjustice, but to purify and pacify our consciences, that we may have peace withGod and also peace in our own bosoms, to prepare for which Christ died, notonly like the bulls and goats at the altar, but like the heifer without thecamp.

I. There was a great deal of care employed in the choice of the heifer that was to be burnt, much more than in the choice of any other offering,

Num. 19:2 This is the ordinance of the law which the LORDhath commanded, saying, Speak unto the children of Israel, that they bring theea red heifer without spot, wherein is no blemish, and upon which never cameyoke:

a.lt must not only be without blemish, typifying the spotless purity and sinless perfection of the Lord Jesus, b.lt must be a red heifer, because of the rarity of the colour, that it might be the more remarkable: the Jews say,

"If but two hairs were black or white, it was unlawful."

Christ, as man, was the Son of Adam, red earth, and we find him red in his apparel, red with his own blood, and red with the blood of hisenemies.

c.lt must be one on which never came yoke, which was not insisted on in other sacrifices, but thus was typified the voluntary offer of the Lord Jesus, whenhe said, Lo, I come, He was bound and held with no other cords than those ofhis own love. This heifer was to be provided at the expense of the congregation, because they were all to have a joint interest in it; and so allbelievers have in Christ.

II. There was to be a great deal of ceremony in the burning of it. The care of doing it was committed to Eleazar, not to Aaron himself, because it was notfit that he should do anything to render himself ceremonially unclean, no, notso much as till the evening Num. 19:3;:Num. 19:8; yet it being an affair ofgreat concern especially in the significancy of it, it was to be performed byhim that was next to Aaron in dignity. The chief priests of that time had the principal hand in the death of Christ.

- 1. The heifer was to be slain without the camp, as an impure thing, which identifies the insufficiency of the methods prescribed by the ceremonial law to take awaysin. So far were they from cleansing effectually that they were themselvesunclean; as if the pollution that was laid upon them continued to cleave tothem. Yet, to answer this type, our Lord Jesus, being made sin and a curse forus, suffered without the gate, Heb 13:12.
- 2. Eleazar was to sprinkle the blood directly before the door of the tabernacle, and looking steadfastly towards it,

Nu 19:4 And Eleazar the priest shall take of her blood with his finger, and sprinkle of her blood directly before the tabernacle of the congregation seven times:

This made it in some sort an expiation; for the sprinkling of the blood before the Lord was the chief solemnity in all the sacrifices of atonement; therefore, though this was not done at the altar, yet, being donetowards the sanctuary, it was closely related that the virtue and validity of it depended upon the sanctuary, and were derived from it. This signified the satisfaction that was made to God by the death of Christ, our great high priest, who by the eternal Spirit (and the Spirit is called the finger of God, (Luke 11:20) offered himself without spotunto God; directly before the sanctuary, when he said, Father, into thy hands lcommit my spirit. It also signifies how necessary it was to the purifying of our hearts that satisfaction should be made to divine justice. This sprinkling of the blood put virtue into the ashes.

- 3. The heifer was to be wholly burnt, Nu 19:5. This typified the extreme sufferings of our Lord Jesus, both insoul and body, as a sacrifice made by fire. The priest was to cast into thefire, while it was burning, cedarwood, hyssop, and scarlet, which were used inthe cleansing of lepers (Le 14:6,7), that the ashes of these might be mingledwith the ashes of the heifer, because they were designed for purification.
- 4. The ashes of the heifer(separated as well as they could from the ashes of the wood wherewith it wasburnt) were to be carefully gathered up by the hand of a clean person, andpounded and sifted, and so laid up for the use of the congregation, (Nu 19:9),not only for that generation, but for posterity; for the ashes of this oneheifer were sufficient to season as many vessels of water as the people oflsrael would need for many ages. The Jews say that this one served till thecaptivity, nearly 1000 years, and that there was never another heifer burnttill Ezra's time, after their return, grounded only upon the silence of theirold records in the later times of their church, of which they had more fullrecords, they find eight burnt between Ezra's time and the destruction of thesecond temple, which was about 500 years, These ashes are said to be laid uphere as a purification for sin, because, though they were intended to purifyonly from ceremonial uncleanness, yet they were a type of that purification forsin which our Lord Jesus made by his death. Ashes mixed with water are used inscouring, but these had their virtue purely from the divine institution, andtheir accomplishment and perfection in Christ, who is the end of this law forrighteousness.

- a. That the water of purification was made so by the ashes of a heifer, whose blood was sprinkled before thesanctuary; so that which cleanses our consciences is the abiding virtue of thedeath of Christ; it is his blood that cleanses from all sin, 1Jo 1:7.
- b.. That the ashes were sufficient for all the people. There needed not to be a fresh heifer slain for everyperson or family that had occasion to be purified, but this one was enough forall, even for the strangers that sojourned among them (Nu 19:10); so there isvirtue enough in the blood of Christ for all that repent and believe thegospel, for every Israelite, and not for their sins only, but for the sins ofthe whole world, 1Jo 2:2.
- c. That these ashes were capable of being preserved without waste to many ages. No bodily substance is soincorruptible as ashes are, these a very fit emblem of the everlasting efficacyof the sacrifice of Christ. He is able to save, and able to cleanse, to theuttermost.
- d. These ashes were laid up as a stock or treasure, for the constant purification of Israel from theirpollutions; so the blood of Christ is laid up for us in the word as aninexhaustible fountain of merit, to which by faith we may have recourse dailyfor the purging of our consciences; see Zec 13:1.
- e. All those that were employed in this service were made ceremonially unclean by it; even Eleazar himself, thoughhe did but sprinkle the blood, Nu 19:7. He that burned the heifer was unclean(Nu 19:8), and he that gathered up the ashes (Nu 19:10); so all that had a handin putting Christ to death contracted guilt by it: his betrayer, hisprosecutors, his judge, his executioner, all did what they did with wickedhands, though it was by the determinate counsel and foreknowledge of God (Ac2:23); yet some of them were, and all might have been cleansed by the virtue ofthat same blood which they had brought themselves under the guilt of. Some makethis to signify the imperfection of the legal services, and their insufficiencyto take away sin, inasmuch as those who prepared for the purifying of otherswere themselves polluted by the preparation. The Jews say, This is a mysterywhich Solomon himself did not understand, that the same thing should pollutethose that were clean and purify those that were unclean.

Il Cor. 5:21 For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him.

The Book of the Wars of the Lord

Numbers 21:14

Wherefore it is said in the book of the wars of the LORD, What he did in the Red sea, and in the brooks of Arnon.

Adam Clarke's Commentary:

[The book of the wars of the Lord] There are endless conjectures about this book, both among ancients and moderns. Dr. Lightfoot'sopinion is the most simple, and to me bears the greatest appearance of beingthe true one. "This book seems to have been some book of remembrances anddirections, written by Moses for Joshua's private instruction for the management of the wars after him. See Ex 17:14-16. It may be that this was the same bookwhich is called the book of Jasher, i. e., the book of the upright, or adirectory for Joshua, from Moses, what to do and what to expect in his wars; and in this book it seems as if Moses directed the setting up of archery, see2Sa 1:18, and warrants Joshua to command the sun, and expect its obedience, Jos10:13."

Chapter 34: "The Boundaries of Israel's Inheritance"

All the land was theirs, but they only possessed a portion.

Cities of Refuge

Numbers 35:6-34; Joshua20:1-9

The idea of providing cities of refuge (Joshua 20:1-9) for capital offenses is rooted in the tension between customary tribal law (retaliation or revenge, in which the blood relative isobligated to execute vengeance) and civil law (carried out less personally byan assembly according to a standard code of justice).

Blood feuds are usually associated with nomadic groups;legal procedures, with villages and towns. Israel, found it necessary to adoptan intermediate step regulating manslaughter, so that an innocent person wouldnot be killed before standing trial. Absolution was possible only by beingcleared by his hometown assembly, and by the eventual death of the high priest, which freed the offender from ritual pollution.

Section 4-- Numbers Study Questions

From what is the title "Numbers" derived?

I. "The name "Numbers" is derived from the fact this book contains the numbering of the people of Israel in the wilderness of Sinai(chapters 1-4) and the numbering of the people afterwards on the plain of Moab(chapter 26).

What does this book record, generally speaking?

I. This book records Israel's forty years of wandering in the wilderness and of the equipping of the people for taking possession of the Promised Land.

Write verbatim the key verse of this book.

I. Numbers 9:17-- And when the cloud was taken up from the tabernacle, then after that the children of Israel journeyed: and in the placewhere the cloud abode, there the children of Israel pitched their tents.

What was the criteria for the census taken in Numbers chapter one?

I. 1. Male - 2.20 years old and upward - 3.All able to go forth to war

Was the sum of the Levites taken with these? Explain your answer.

I. No, God Did not want them numbered along with the people. They would not be going forth to war.

Introduction to Deuteronomy

The Fifth Book of Moses

I. This is the Purpose and Theme of Deuteronomy

The term "Deuteronomy" refers to the second stating of the Law of Moses. The book also rehearses the history of the Jews and records some of Moses" great speeches. (There is no new information contained in Deuteronomy.)

The name of this book reveals its purpose: "deuter" meaning 'second" and "nomos" meaning "law." It is a repetition of the laws of Sinai. (17:18) The title of this bookis rendered "copy" in 17:18, and means "duplicate."

II. Key Verse:

"I call heaven and earth to record this day against you, thatI have set before you life and death, blessing and cursing: therefore chooselife, that both thou and thy seed may live:" (30:19)

III. Main People:

Moses, Joshua

IV. Outline:

- I. Moses' First Speech to the People "Looking Back" (Chapters 1-4)
- II. Moses' Second Speech to the People "Looking Up" (Chapters 5-26)
- III. Moses' Third Speech to the People "Looking Out" (Chapters 27-33)
- IV. Moses' Death (Chapter 34)

V. When Events Happened:

around 1451 B.C.

After 40 Years in Wilderness Joshua Replaces Moses

Highlights from Deuteronomy

I. Deuteronomy is a Book of Remembering

Only take heed to thyself, and keep thy soul diligently, lest thou forget the things which thine eyes have seen, and lest they depart from thy heart all the daysof thy life: but teach them thy sons, and thy sons' sons;

The old generation that had left Egypt died by the way, except for Joshua and Caleb (1:36; Num. 32:12), and a new generation must have the old-time laws rehearsed in their hearing.[1]

The remembrance of deliverance from Egypt is constantly urged as a motive to obedience. (5:15; 10:12,13)sup1

Deuteronomy is a most integral part of the Pentateuch seeing that it condenses and continues the great truths of the first four books of the Bible, namely:

Divine election of Israel, prominent in Genesis.

Divine deliverance of Israel, conspicuous in Exodus.

Divine holiness of Israel, pre-eminent in Leviticus.

Divine jealousy and determination, in Numbers. (8:2 wilderness purpose)

Divine love and bounty in Deuteronomy. (7:6-16)

Remember the Law of the Land. 4:5

Remember Especially Deut. 4:10; Ex 19:9,16; 20:18; Heb 12:18-19

II. Possess the Land

But the LORD hath taken you, and brought you forth out of the iron furnace, even out of Egypt, to be unto him a people of inheritance, as ye are this day.

THERE IS A BATTLE TO BE FOUGHT!

If thou shalt say in thine heart, These nations are more than I; how can I dispossess them?

Thou shalt not be afraid of them:but shalt well remember what the LORD thy God did unto Pharaoh, and unto all Egypt; --Deuteronomy 7:17,18

III. Do Not Contend or Possess

Esau's Possession Deuteronomy 2:4,5

Lot's Possession Deuteronomy 2:9,19

IV. Joshua, the Son of Nun

And Joshua the son of Nun was full of the spirit of wisdom; for Moses had laid his hands upon him: and the children of Israel hearkened unto him, and did as the LORD commanded Moses. --Deuteronomy 34:9

The Lord commands Moses to encourage Joshua in his ministry. 1:38; 3:28

Joshua's ministry is to cause Israel to possess their inheritance. 1:38; 31:3,7

Joshua is named Moses' successor. 31:14

Moses charges Joshua. 31:23

V. Giants

VI. People of Great Size

Emims-- Anakims-- Zamzummims

The Emims dwelt therein in times past, a people great, and many, and tall, as the Anakims; Which also were accounted giants, as the Anakims; but the Moabites call them Emims. --Deuteronomy2:10,11

That also was accounted a land of giants: giants dwelt therein in old time; and the Ammonites call themZamzummims; A people great, and many, and tall, as the Anakims; but the LORD destroyed them before them; and they succeeded them, and dwelt in their stead: --Deuteronomy2:20,21

VII. Og King of Bashan -- The Last of the Giants

For only Og king of Bashan remained of the remnant of giants; behold, his bedstead was a bedstead of iron; is it not in Rabbath of the children of Ammon? nine cubits was the length thereof,and four cubits the breadth of it, after the cubit of a man. And the rest of Gilead, and all Bashan, being the kingdom of Og, gave I unto the half tribe of Manasseh; all the region of Argob, with all Bashan, which was called the land of giants.

Deuteronomy 3:11,13

His bed was made of Iron and was 13.5 feet long and 6 feet wide!

The Bible: The Story of Redemption

Many critics of the Bible may say that it is just a collection of stories written by many men that were later gathered into one collection and titled the Holy Bible. They believe it is just a bunch of fancified accounts of Israel shistory and inane cognitions about such things as women eating forbidden apples and men being swallowed by giant sea creatures. They do not believe that the Bible was written by one author, but rather they believe that it was created by various, unrelated men that chose to believe in a Supreme Being throughout the stages of time. A comprehensive study of the Bible that compares all of the 66 books will disprove these false suppositions and will reveal that the Bible is not just a collection of stories, but that it is in reality one story, namely, The Story of Redemption.

The Theme of the story

Though different books treat the subject in different manners, there is one clear theme that runs through the entire Bible, and that is the redemption of mankind. In the beginning, God had a desire to create a being that could have fellowship with Him, and that being was mankind. Because of Adames sin in the garden, man lost that place of fellowship with God, but God had a plan to redeem (to recover or buy back) man to that place of fellowship. This plan of redemption is the main theme of the Bible as a whole, and thus the Bible can be called The Story of Redemption.

The characters of the story

The protagonist in a story is the one that moves the action of the story and is usually the hero or heroine, which in the Bible the protagonist is none other than the Son of God, commonly referred to as Jesus Christ. He is the Redeemer, the One who had the ambition and the ability to save mankind from their helpless estate. Many think of Christ as only a principle character of the New Testament, but they fail to realize that He is actually the main character of the entire Bible, for He is an essential part of every one of the 66 books of the Bible and not only the four Gospels. The Old Testament is riddled with typological objects and characters, prophetical foretellings, and actual appearances of Christ and His redeeming power for mankind. He is the One that was promised to Eve that would redeem her fallen offspring by bruising the serpents head (Genesis 3:15), He is the One that appeared to Moses in the burning bush to announce the emancipation of Israel from Egyptian bondage (Exodus 3:2-8), He is the Redeemer of Whom Job proclaimed a revelation of His vitality (Job 19:25), and He is the Fourth Man in the furnace that rescued the pious Hebrew Children from a fiery fate (Daniel 3:24, 25). Throughout the entirety of the Bible we see this one Christ with His one plan for redemption for lost mankind; this universal protagonist is evidence that the Bible is one complete volume and not just a collection of hap-hazard stories about random themes.

In a story the antagonist is the one that stands in opposition to the protagonist, and in the Bible this is quite obviously the devil. We see at the very beginning of the Bible how he induces the destruction of God s fellowship with mankind by enticing Eve to eat the fruit from the tree of the knowledge of good and evil, and we see him working throughout the other accounts trying to hinder Christ s plan of redemption (we do not read of many references of him by name throughout the Old Testament, but we see from the book of Job that he is behind acts of persecution against God and His saints), and we even see him go face to face in a verbal battle with Christ as is accounted in the fourth chapters of both Matthew and Luke.

The supporting characters of a story are those that play a part in the plot, but they are not major characters. In the Bible there are many supporting characters, and there are two certain categories of them that remain the same throughout the entire Bible even though their names and specific circumstances may change these are the saints and the sinful. The saints are those that sought and received the redemption of Christ; in the Old Testament they are those of the children of Israel and in the New Testament they consist of followers of Jesus, or Christians. The sinful are the unredeemed enemies of God that have no desire for salvation and who persecute God's people.

The consistency of these character categories throughout the entire Bible shows us it's unified theme and story plot. You will not find accounts in the Bible that center around other types of people, nor will emphasis be added to any individual besides that which categorizes them as either saints or sinful (i.e. you do not find many descriptions about a person sphysical appearance, nor about their personality traits, but you will hear over and over again how this individual pleased God or how this person did that which was evil in the sight of the Lord). The Bible is not concerned with documenting characters of history, but it spurpose is to show how man responded to the plan of redemption, and you will find this fact true of every chapter of every book of the Bible.

The outline of the story

- •• In a story there are five basic parts that make up the outline, and they are as follows: exposition, rising action, climax, falling action, and resolution.
- 1. Exposition. The exposition is the beginning of the story where the characters and setting are revealed. For the Bible, this is the book of Genesis, in which the main characters (God, Christ, the devil, the saints, and the sinful) and the setting (earth that has been conquered by sin) are introduced to the reader.
- 2. Rising action. The rising action is where the events in the story become complicated and the conflict in the story is revealed; it is all the events between the exposition and the climax. In the Bible this is all the books of the Old Testament excluding Genesis (Exodus to Malachi). Through these books we see the conflict of the story appear over and over again; the conflict is that mankind desires to once again have fellowship with God, and yet the devil and their sin hinders them from attaining to such a place. The realization resurfaces constantly that they cannot restore themselves to this position, but that they needed a Messiah to come and redeem them from their hopeless estate.
- 3. Climax. The highest point of interest and turning point of the story is known as the climax. This is the point of the movie that you fast-forward to and watch over and over again because it is action packed and thrilling to behold even though it already has been seen dozens of times. This is what the four Gospels are to the Bible. Here we see Christ coming into the world as the long awaited Messiah to redeem mankind. We see Him suffer and die on the cross, not because of His sins, but for the sins of the whole world, and we see Him rise from the grave three days after He had been dead, finalizing the plan of redemption. It is truly the most beloved portion of Scriptures being read over and over again several times a year by many Christians.
- 4. Falling action. This is where the events and complications of the story begin to resolve themselves, and in the Bible this is namely the book of Acts and the Epistles (Romans to Jude). While we saw redemption provided for at the climax of the story in the four Gospels, we did not then see many men enter into that provision of redemption, and it is here in these books succeeding the Crucifixion and Resurrection of Christ that we see man become truly redeemed from the penalty and power of sin. As the number of these redeemed men and women (referred to as the church) begins to grow, it is without doubt to the reader that the plan of redemption has been fully accomplished and that the same plan can have an effect on their lives.

5. Resolution. The resolution of a story is the very end where all the loose ends are tied up and it is cemented in the reader s mind what the final outcome is. For the Bible this is the book of Revelation, for here we see the antagonist, the devil, cast into the lake of fire and we see the protagonist, Jesus Christ, united with the supporting characters, the saints, in an eternal union of fellowship.

From the above arguments, you can see that the Bible as a whole has all the elements that make up a good story in a literary sense, and though it may have more supporting characters than Dodie Smith $\infty$ 101 Dalmatians and it may be almost 30% longer than Count Leo Tolstoy $\infty$ War and Peace (The Bible has 788,280 words, while War and Peace has 560,000 words), I believe the Bible is the greatest book ever written. I am not alone in this thought, for men of prestige have made mention of the greatness of the Bible. American patriot Patrick Henry said, "The Bible is worth all other books that have ever been printed." One of the most famous novelists of all time, Charles Dickens, said that "The New Testament is the best book the world has ever known or will know." And it is said that literary legend Sir Walter Scott on his deathbed said to a nearby friend, $\infty$ Bring me the Book, $\infty$ to which the friend inquired, $\infty$ Which book? $\infty$ Sir Walter replied, $\infty$ There is but one Book, $\infty$ referring to the Bible.

Although the Bible has all the elements that make up a good story, it is so much more than just a good story; it is God sook of instructions to man. Every page is worth reading and every thought is worth absorbing, for in doing so, you will find that it is the only for you to plive happily ever after.

It's in the Valleys I Grow

Sometimes life seems hard to bear,

Full of sorrow, trouble and woe

It's then I have to remember

That it's in the valleys I grow.

If I always stayed on the mountain top

And never experienced pain,

I would never appreciate God's love

And would be living in vain.

I have so much to learn

And my growth is very slow,

Sometimes I need the mountain tops,

But it's in the valleys I grow.

I do not always understand

Why things happen as they do,

But I am very sure of one thing.

My Lord will see me through.

My little valleys are nothing

When I picture Christ on the cross

He went through the valley of death;

His victory was Satan's loss.

Forgive me Lord, for complaining

When I'm feeling so very low.

Just give me a gentle reminder

That it's in the valleys I grow.

Continue to strengthen me, Lord

And use my life each day

To share your love with others

And help them find their way.

Thank you for valleys, Lord

For this one thing I know

The mountain tops are glorious

But it's in the valleys I grow!

The shortest distance between a problem and a solution is the distance between your knees and the floor. The one who kneels to the Lord can stand up to anything.

- The Bible is no mere book, but a Living Creature, with a power that conquers all that oppose it. —Napoleon
- Another century and there will not be a Bible on earth! —Voltaire
- Voltaire expected that within fifty years of his lifetime there would not be one Bible in the world. His house is now a distribution center for Bibles in many languages. —Corrie Ten Boom

Were we allowed to read the Bible as we do all other books, we would admire its beauties, treasure its worthy thoughts, and account for all its absurd, grotesque and cruel things, by saying that its authors lived in rude, barbaric times. But we are told that it was written by inspired men; that it contains the will of God; that it is perfect, pure, and true in all its parts; the source and standard of all moral and religious truth; that it is the star and anchor of all human hope; the only guide for man, the only torch in Nature's night. These claims are so at variance with every known recorded fact, so palpably absurd, that every free, unbiased soul is forced to raise the standard of revolt. —Robert Ingersoll

Evolution From The Monkey's Viewpoint

Three monkeys sat in a coconut tree

Discussing things as they're said to be.

Said one to the others, "Now listen you two,

There's a certain rumor that can't be true.

That man descended from our noble race.

The very idea! It's a dire disgrace.

No monkey ever deserted his wife,

Starved his baby and ruined her life.

And you've never known a mother monk,

To leave her baby with others to bunk,

Or pass them on from one to the other,

Till they hardly know who is their mother.

And another thing you'll never see

A monk build a fence around a coconut tree,

And let the coconuts go to waste,

Forbidding all other monks a taste.

Why, if I put a fence around this tree,

Starvation would force you to steal from me.

Here's another thing a monkey won't do,

Go out at night and get on a stew.

Or use a gun or club or knife,

To take some other monkey's life.

Yes! Man descended, the ornery cuss,

But, brother, he didn't descend from US!
